

Catholic Bishops' Stance Varies In Birth Control Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church around the world are taking varied positions ranging from firm crackdowns to toleration toward the widespread opposition to Pope Paul's encyclical barring contraception.

Generally, both in this country and abroad, the predominant tendency seemed to be to leave the door open to dissent. In scattered cases, in Australia, Ireland, Great Britain and the United States, some priests were reported suspended from priestly functions or removed from their posts for challenging the encyclical.

A showdown over the issue appeared to be building up in this country involving Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., who has indicated he may act against 52 priests unless they repudiate their dissent. In a letter to archbishops, priests and aimed at all Catholics in the jurisdiction, Cardinal O'Boyle said Wednesday that disent from the encyclical is "erroneous, scandalous and ofensive to faithful Catholics." He said acceptance of the papal ruling represents true freedom of conscience in that "we are responsible for forming a right conscience."

Mostly, however, American bishops have got moved to cut off the discussion. In Western Europe, German and Belgian bishops have upheld the rights of individual conscience on the matter. In England, where a group of laymen was gathering clergy and lay signatures to a petition of opposition, some bishops have called meetings with their clergy to discuss the situation. Some theologians have said that repressive measures against dissenters could cause schism in the Church. But a Canadian scholar, the Rev. Gregory Baum, professor of theology at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto, predicts:

"After a year, it will be evident there are two positions in the Catholic Church, the one of the Pope, the other that of the theologians. This will demand a reinterpretation of papal authority in the Church."

Aside from several groups in various places, about 650 U.S. Catholic theologians, philosophers and canon lawyers have signed a statement disagreeing with the Pope. A Gallup poll indicated 52 percent of American Catholics also opposed the Pope's position, and 65 percent said they believed it is possible to practice artificial birth control and still be a good Catholic.

Soviet Troops Removed From Czechs' Cities

PRAGUE (AP) — Most occupation troops appeared today to be withdrawing from Czechoslovakia's major cities to new positions in the countryside. Downtown Prague was generally clear of Russian tanks for the first time since the invasion three weeks ago.

The Soviets during the night evacuated the capital's last tank encampment, in a park between the main railroad station and St. Wenceslas Square.

Similar evacuations were reported from Bratislava, Kosice and Brno, the latter preparing for several thousand foreign visitors to its annual international trade fair starting Sunday.

A number of planes were heard taking off from Prague during the night. This could indicate a thinning out of the Soviet troops, but there was no immediate confirmation.

Soviet military police were on the roads outside the capital, directing traffic, stopping trains and holding railway crossing gates open for convoys, jeeps and tanks.

A heavy concentration of airborne and armored troops remained near Prague's international airport, where most scheduled flights resumed this week. Occasional armored cars were still seen in the city and some tanks were still inside the Soviet Embassy's grounds, but they were hidden from public view.

The major part of the occupation force, estimated at 650,000 men at one time, was believed to be still in the country to back up political pressure being exerted on Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov.

Claim Hijacker Is Bank Robber

MONTREAL (AP) — A Texan accused of trying to hijack a Canadian airliner to fly him to Cuba appears in court today, and meanwhile U.S. authorities were checking to determine if he is wanted for a Texas bank robbery.

Police said the Texan surrendered Wednesday after holding two crewmen of an Air Canada Viscount at gunpoint for more than three hours.

He said he was Charles Lavern Beasley, 22, of Dallas. The Dallas office of the FBI said the man told Canadian authorities he was born April 2, 1946, in Rosser, Tex. The FBI said a federal warrant charges a man of the same name, age and birthplace with the robbery of $14,000 from the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Lodi, Tex., on Aug. 19.

Authorities said Beasley, a 6-foot Negro, boarded the four-engine turboprop in Saint John, N.B., and drew a revolver soon after it took off for Toronto. He said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was after him because he was a member of the Black Power movement.

Increase In Auto Prices Is Crucial, Says Arthur Okun

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's chief economic adviser, calling car prices for 1969 models "one of the most crucial pricing actions in coming months," says manufacturers should exercise prudent restraint.

Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, expressed the view Wednesday in a letter to Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who had expressed concern.

Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said he had heard increases might be as much as $300 a car and said such increases would cost consumers close to $8 billion next year.

Nixon, Humphrey Clash On Nuclear Pact Timing

By The Associated Press
Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey clashed head-on today over prompt Senate ratification of the multi-nation treaty against spread of nuclear weapons.

Nixon, the Republican candidate, endorsed the treaty in a statement Wednesday but said Senate ratification should be delayed until Soviet intentions in Czechoslovakia and other European nations can be reassessed. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, said today the very fact that tensions have increased among the superpowers shows a need for ratifying the treaty and building other East-West bridges.

Bridges Needed

"For if nations shall finally be unable to build bridges between each other in year 23 of the nuclear age," Humphrey said in prepared remarks in Wilmington, Del., "I cannot hold much hope for the future either of ourselves or of the human family."

Nixon said in Charlotte, N.C., he favors the nuclear nonproliferation treaty although he has reservations about some of its provisions and "I hope that it can be universally adopted."

"The posture and intentions of the Soviet Union toward Czechoslovakia and other nations of central and western Europe can be reassessed at a later time to see whether circumstances will then justify our proceeding with ratification."

Nixon's statement on the treaty signed but not yet ratified in Washington, Moscow and London was distributed to newsmen as the candidate addressed Charlotte Piedmont College students on lawlessness.

Stop Crime

"It's time for new men and new policies who will stop the rise in crime and also establish respect for law all over this country," he said. "I pledge that kind of leadership."

Humphrey aides said before Nixon's nuclear treaty statement was publicized that the vice president felt he had two good issues in the treaty and the controversial nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and was trying to smoke Nixon out on them.

Humphrey, who has called in the past for debates with Nixon, said in New Orleans Wednesday he is willing to debate third party candidate George C. Wallace as well.

Both Wallace and Humphrey addressed the American Legion convention in New Orleans. Wallace—denouncing rioters and looters as "trash" and calling for military victory with conventional weapons in Vietnam if peace talks fail—got the better reception.

No Conventions

Wallace also announced his American Independent party will not hold a nominating convention because, he said, it takes "the armed forces of the country to hold one."

Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew said

in Washington he is not going to turn his campaign into "a big Communist hunt" but expressed "surprise that there isn't more concern among the public" about what he called the growing Communist party strength in America.

Agnew said he has no fear of Communist infiltration in the government at the moment but said there is considerable Communist influence in violence-oriented protest movements.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, tore up a speech on the Republicans' economic record and told a University of Notre Dame audience in South Bend, Ind., the nation is threatened by "instability and disorder" unless Americans learn to live together.

In other political developments:

Debate Approved

—Sen. Herman E. Talmadge easily won re-nomination in a Georgia Democratic primary Wednesday. But his opponent, Maynard Jackson, a youthful Negro, gained a sizeable vote in his first political effort.

—A Senate-passed bill that would clear the way for a Humphrey-Nixon debate by suspending an equal-time provision passed the House Commerce Committee by two votes and its final House fate remains uncertain.

—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, unsuccessful Democratic presidential contender, said he will not announce the candidate he favors or the campaign role he will play for at least three weeks.

Benson Ford Is Supporting GOP

DETROIT (AP)—The last of the automobile company Ford brothers to endorse a political candidate, Benson Ford is supporting the Republican ticket of Nixon-Agnew.

Henry Ford II, 51, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., endorsed Hubert Humphrey on Aug. 21. William Clay Ford, 43, a Ford vice president, supported Sen. Eugene McCarthy's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination.

Benson Ford, 49, also a vice president, was named chairman of a Victory '68 dinner in Detroit for the Republican presidential candidate Sept. 19.

William Clay Ford said Wednesday he was "not particularly enthused about any of the candidates."

$60 Million In New Aid Is Not Enough: Board

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's financially troubled school districts came under official scrutiny Wednesday amid speculation that higher state taxes may soon be sought to finance more school aid.

The State Board of Education meanwhile, planned to tell Gov. George Romney that the $60-million aid increase being tentatively considered by his budget bureau for next year is too small.

And Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, chairman of the House Education Committee, warned that some school districts have committed themselves to teacher contracts they cannot afford and will soon be operating in the red.

"We're apt to have a number of critical districts on our hands," Smart said. "Even using all the resources they have, they can't continue."

Finance Hearing

In unrelated developments, the state board held its regular meeting and a special school committee, chaired by Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, held a hearing on school financing.

In an opinion prepared for Spencer's committee, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled the Legislature does not have power to levy a state property tax which would put the total tax on any property above the 15-mill limit in the state constitution.

Kelley also ruled lawmakers could not bring school employees under the state civil service system.

Spencer proposed earlier this year that the state take over from local governments the job of financing schools, collecting school taxes and negotiating with teachers.

He said Wednesday he thought the Legislature next year might accept one per cent increases in the state's 2.6 per cent personal and 5.6 per cent corporate income taxes. Spencer said that would yield about

Gladstone Man Dies In Action In Vietnam War

A 20-year-old Gladstone soldier has died in Vietnam. Pfc. William Otto Lang, son of Mrs. Ellie Lang, 915 1/2 Dakota Ave., and the late Clarence Lang, was killed in action near Saigon in South Vietnam Sunday, Sept. 8, his mother was informed by telegram.

Details of the action were not immediately available, but death was caused by bullet wounds.

Lang was serving as an infantryman with the 101st Airborne Division. He had entered service Oct. 9, 1967, and had been in Vietnam since March 23.

His wife, Judy, resides in Clinton, Wis., and she is expecting a child late in November.

William Otto Lang was born Nov. 26, 1947, and graduated from Gladstone High School in 1965.

Survivors include his mother; two brothers, Chief Petty Officer Thomas Lang, stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., and EN-2 Robert Lang, USN, who is serving aboard the USS Fox, and three sisters, Mrs. Charles Rudolf, Long Island, N.Y., and Helen and Norma Jean at home.

Funeral arrangements are in-

Ike Continues Health Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's health is so much improved that his wife, Mamie, has been able to leave his bedside for some social activity.

Mrs. Eisenhower took time out from her bedside watch of her husband Wednesday when she left Walter Reed Army Hospital to attend a matinee performance of the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" at Washington's National Theater.

The 77-year-old Eisenhower has been in Walter Reed for the last four months, under treatment for a series of heart attacks. His latest and most severe attack came Aug. 6.

War Protesters Disrupt Humphrey's Flint Speech

FLINT (AP)—Scores of anti-war protesters interrupted Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's address Wednesday night, drowning out the Democratic presidential nominee's voice with raucous chants of "peace now!"

Humphrey was forced to stop speaking three times as the demonstrators shouted and waved placards reading "Hell Hubert," "Stop the War" and "A free state is not a police state" during a rally at Dort's Mall.

The vice president, who appeared strained from a long day of campaigning, responded to the protesters by saying:

"The problems of this nation and this world will never be settled by those who have the loudest voices."

Peace, First Duty

"There isn't a decent person, there isn't a public official in this country — and I don't think there's a person in this room — that doesn't want peace with all the passion of his soul and heart," Humphrey added.

"And I may say that if it is my privilege to serve as the President of this nation, I will make it my first duty and my first commitment to seek every known honorable way to bring peace to that troubled part of the world known as Southeast Asia and Vietnam," he said. An end to the Vietnam war, he added, "will not be done by slogans. It will not be done by demonstrations. It will not be done by placards."

Crowd Fair Visit

A crowd estimated at several thousand persons attended the rally marking the vice president's first visit to Michigan since winning the nomination two weeks ago at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

A planned visit to the Saginaw County Fair was called off, aides said, because of inclement weather.

During his address, Humphrey lashed out at Republican presidential nominee Richard Nixon and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, a presidential candidate on the American Independent party ticket.

"I come here representing one of the two major parties," Humphrey told the gathering. "And I'm well aware that there are three candidates in this election."

Lashes Opponents

"One of them represents the spirit of separatism in this country. And there is no room in America for a divided America. There's only room in America for one America," he said. Another candidate, he said, indicates his unwillingness to stake a stand by his silence.

"This is not time for evasion. This is no time for silence on the fundamental issues of our time — the issue of human rights and human opportunity," he said.

"And I don't intend to be silent about it," he added.

He referred to the "new Nixon" by saying the "old Republican record is still there."

A majority of Republicans in Congress, he stated, voted against increased medicare benefits, truth in packaging legislation, a $1.60 minimum wage and added benefits to higher and secondary education.

"I appeal tonight to your thinking process — not your glands," he said. "I ask you to vote your hopes in 1968, and not your hates."

Humphrey spent about two hours in Michigan before flying back to Washington. He was greeted by about 500 persons on his arrival at Bishop airport.

Enemy Pull-Out Avoids Battle Over Tay Ninh

SAIGON (AP) — Two small skirmishes were reported on the fringes of Tay Ninh City today, and enemy troops ambushed a U.S. convoy further out, but U.S. advisers said it appeared that enemy forces had pulled back for the moment.

The fighting was reported on the southwestern and southeastern edges of the city as 2,000 South Vietnamese paratroopers and marines swept through areas that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese infiltrators had occupied Wednesday.

South Vietnamese military headquarters in Saigon said: "The situation is now calm in Tay Ninh City. There is no major fighting."

Attack Convoy

Enemy troops opened up with small arms on a convoy from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division six miles to the south along route 22, the major highway leading from Tay Ninh to Saigon, 45 miles to the southeast.

The Americans returned the fire with machine guns atop armored personnel carriers. Fourteen enemy soldiers and one American were reported killed in the brief fight. Another five U.S. soldiers were wounded. Two trucks, an armored personnel carrier and a helicopter were slightly damaged, a U.S. spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the allied command in Saigon reported that U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, reflecting a slowdown in ground action after two weeks of intensified fighting. American casualties were 195 killed and 1,400 wounded, about half the total reported the week before.

May Come Back

One U.S. adviser at Tay Ninh said the majority of the enemy force has withdrawn "but he may have withdrawn only a short way or into a different area." He can come right back.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 28 enemy soldiers had been killed in fighting at Tay Ninh since Wednesday. Government losses were put at 13 killed and 91 wounded.

Between 800 and 1,500 men were estimated to have invaded Tay Ninh and its suburbs before dawn Wednesday. "I think they missed their chance," said one U.S. adviser. "They really could have punched in Wednesday morning, but now we have the troops to stop them."

Order New Quiz On Hoffa Bribes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A special grand jury has been ordered to investigate charges that conspirators in three states have offered bribes to witnesses whose testimony sent Teamsters President James R. Hoffa to jail.

U.S. District Court Judges Frank Gray Jr. and William E. Miller ordered the probe Wednesday as a result of testimony by Walter Sheridan, a former Justice Department investigator.

Sheridan, who was with the Justice Department when the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was attorney general, testified last month that efforts have been made to bribe Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., teamsters official, and Robert Vick, a former Nashville policeman.

Sheridan said he had been offered $1 million to change statements he made while investigating the Hoffa case. Sheridan did much of the investigative work which led to Hoffa's 1964 jury-tampering conviction in Chattanooga.

Hoffa, who is serving an eight-year term at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., was found guilty of tampering with the jury which tried him on a conspiracy charge in Nashville in 1962. The first trial, in which Hoffa was accused of conspiring to divert union funds, ended with a deadlocked jury.

Benson Ford Is Supporting GOP

DETROIT (AP) — The last of the automobile company Ford brothers to endorse a political candidate, Benson Ford is supporting the Republican ticket of Nixon-Agnew.

Henry Ford II, 51, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., endorsed Hubert Humphrey on Aug. 21. William Clay Ford, 43, a Ford vice president, supported Sen. Eugene McCarthy's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination.

Benson Ford, 49, also a vice president, was named chairman of a Victory '68 dinner in Detroit for the Republican presidential candidate Sept. 19.

William Clay Ford said Wednesday he was "not particularly enthused about any of the candidates."

War Protesters Disrupt Humphrey's Flint Speech

FLINT (AP) — Scores of anti-war protesters interrupted Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's address Wednesday night, drowning out the Democratic presidential nominee's voice with raucous chants of "peace now!"

Humphrey was forced to stop speaking three times as the demonstrators shouted and waved placards reading "Heil Hubert," "Stop the War" and "A free state is not a police state" during a rally at Dori's Mall.

The vice president, who appeared strained from a long day of campaigning, responded to the protesters by saying: "The problems of this nation and this world will never be settled by those who have the loudest voices."

"There isn't a decent person, there isn't a public official in this country — and I don't think there's a person in this room — that doesn't want peace with all the passion of his soul and heart," Humphrey added.

"And I may say that if it is my privilege to serve as the President of this nation, I will make it my first duty and my first commitment to seek every known honorable way to bring peace to that troubled part of the world known as Southeast Asia and Vietnam," he said.

An end to the Vietnam war, he added, "will not be done by slogans. It will not be done by demonstrations. It will not be done by placards."

Cancel Fair Visit
A crowd estimated at several thousand persons attended the rally marking the vice president's first visit to Michigan since winning the nomination two weeks ago at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

A planned visit to the Saginaw County Fair was called off, aides said, because of inclement weather.

During his address, Humphrey lashed out at Republican presidential nominee Richard Nixon and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, a presidential candidate on the American Independent party ticket.

"I come here representing one of the two major parties," Humphrey told the gathering. "And I'm well aware that there are three candidates in this election."

Lashes Opponents
"One of them represents the spirit of separatism in this country. And there is no room in America for a divided America. There's only room in Amer-

Prisoners Riot At Marquette For 29 Hours

MARQUETTE — The warden at the state prison here said Wednesday that he was still trying to determine the identities of inmates who created an almost continuous 29 hour disturbance in a cellblock.

The cellblock, one of the oldest in the prison, was littered with broken wooden stools and brooms and other debris when the disturbance subsided about 3 a.m. Wednesday. There are about 60 inmates in the block — many being held there for disciplinary reasons.

Warden Raymond J. Buchko said no one was injured in the disturbance, which began at 9 p.m. Monday night when some inmates began rattling metal drinking cups on the bars of their cell doors.

Buchko said none of the prisoners in the block had been fed since the disturbance began and would not until the debris was removed and the leaders of the fracas isolated.

"Operations continued on a normal basis" in the rest of the prison during the disturbance, Buchko said. He praised the remainder of the prison's 500 inmates over the loudspeaker system Tuesday night for remaining calm during the height of the disorder.

THE FISHING INDUSTRY center in Escanaba at the foot of N. 3rd St., once the busiest commercial street in Escanaba, is being cleared to make way for a new waterfront residence. Julius Danowski, Detroit and Escanaba, bought the former Hansen & Jensen fishery from Brown Seafood and is razing the building. (Daily Press Photo)

Shorefront Home To Replace Old Fishery

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Danowski of Detroit decided that Escanaba will become their permanent home, and since they now live on a boat at the Escanaba yacht basin, it was natural for them to plan a home overlooking the bay.

The site they chose is the former Brown Seafood building on N. 3rd St., which before that was the Hansen & Jensen fishery and before that the Hansen & Jensen fish house. The Danowskis are owners of a business enterprise in Detroit that permits them to cruise the Great Lakes for recreation. They came to Escanaba in June of 1967 aboard their Islander, a 54-foot yacht, and liked Escanaba so much they decided they wanted to live here.

Fin Dwelling
An opportunity to have a home on shore and to bring their boat in underneath their house was provided by the N. 3rd St. site. That boat will probably not be the Islander, but a smaller one, said Danowski. The Islander draws 6 1/2 feet of water.

"I'm looking over house plans," smiled Mrs. Danowski while she waited for her husband to return from the job of razing the old fish house.

"There's a great deal to be done before we build," said Danowski. "There has to be a retaining wall and time to let that settle before we can build — and that's perhaps another year away."

Meanwhile the Danowskis will continue to live aboard the Islander, which has most of the comforts of home—including a furnace for wintertime heating.

Once Frog Hollow
When the Danowskis do move into their new home on N. 3rd St. they will be located in what was the heart of marine traffic for more than a century. Fish boats and pleasure and commercial craft used the little harbor on the north side of Sand Point because of its security and convenience.

The Merchants Dock was nearby, the early Escanaba business district was only a block or so distant, and most of the commercial traffic in those days was by boat anyway.

N. 3rd St. was elevated over a slough that oldtimers still refer to as "Frog Hollow"—an area that has been filled and is now the site of the Delta County jail building and sheriff's office. The wooden bridge over the slough carried the traffic from the business district to the shore and the docks where the passenger and freight boats tied up.

Through the years the fishing industry dwindled, rail and highway traffic increased, and the Merchants Dock crumbled and was pounded to pieces by the waves.

More Slightly
Roy A. Jensen sold the old fishery property to Brown Seafood and there was a brief flurry of activity before the building was closed and the windows boarded up.

The City of Escanaba is interested in bringing the shore front into public ownership so that it might be cleaned up and made more sightly. Seagulls, from long habit, continued to roost on the roof of the old building that is so near the modern complex of the State Building, Delta County Court House, County Jail, and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce building.

The city's effort to acquire the property failed because of the price question. Now the problem has been solved by the Danowskis, whose plans to combine the pleasures of boating and a residence overlooking the bay will create a more sightly shoreline and increased tax revenue to the city.

USCG Station At St. Ignace To Be Dedicated

The new U. S. Coast Guard Station at St. Ignace is scheduled for dedication on Sept. 28. It was announced today by Rear Admiral W. F. Rea III, commander of the Ninth Coast Guard District, Cleveland.

The commandant of the Coast Guard, Admiral W. J. Smith, will dedicate the new unit.

The $347,000 station replaces the Mackinac Island Station. Designed by the Ninth Coast Guard District civil engineering branch, the 16-man station will consist of two buildings—one containing offices and crew's quarters; the other, a two-family duplex for the officer-in-charge and his assistant.

The new station was built because the Mackinac Island Station was old and its isolated location presented supply problems, especially in the winter.

Maurice Chevalier Has Birthday, 80

PARIS (AP)—Maurice Chevalier, who has popularized in song and dance the image of the carefree romantic Frenchman, is 80 years old today.

That's a lot of candles for one birthday cake, so his friends ordered 20 cakes for a big party tonight at the Lido night club.

About 400 entertainment figures and other friends were on the guest list, among them Claudette Colbert, Eddie Constantine, an American who acts only in French films, dancer Zizi Jeanmaire and Regine, the discotheque operator.

Dinner and the Lido floor show were to be followed by film clips illustrating Chevalier's long career.

The climax of the program was to be a procession of the birthday cakes—each one with four candles—and the singing of "Happy Birthday." There is no French equivalent for "Happy Birthday," so it has to be sung in English.

Manistique Area Board Restores Germfask Class

MANISTIQUE — Re-establishment of a kindergarten at Germfask, acceptance of a bid on the Riverside School, approval of an educational television setup for two schools and a policy review occupied the attention of the Manistique Area school board during a 3 1/2-hour meeting Tuesday night.

The meeting room was packed with an audience of civic students observing a unit of government in action, plus a delegation of parents from the Germfask area who petitioned the board to reopen a kindergarten room at the Germfask School.

Last month the Board of Education decided to transfer seven kindergarten students in Germfask to the Doyle School, a distance of 30 miles, primarily because of the small enrollment.

Object To Travel
Parents objected to the distance and time involved in the transportation of children and refused to enroll youngsters in the Doyle School. To attend Doyle School, children would leave Germfask at 11:30 a.m., missing lunch at home, and not return until 4:30 p.m., the parents said.

Agreeing that the parents had a legitimate grievance, the board authorized Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle to reinstate the Germfask kindergarten.

Wilfred Johnson's revised bid of $1,000 for the Riverside School was accepted after the board rejected his first offer and three other offers made last month for the Thompson School property.

Johnson's bid of $360 for the old Doyle School was tabled pending clarification of the boundary lines.

TV Approved
Education television for Lakeside and Central schools was approved on a one-year trial basis. The cable TV programs originate with Northern Michigan University and will cost $364 for the period, based on a $2 per child charge.

Three television sets are available for the program, with which will involve 182 students. The board agreed to match about $3,500 in funds to be raised by a parents group for new band uniforms. Wuehle reported that Witter Reid, 185 N. Cedar St., suggested a community fund-raising project to finance new uniforms. The board has a $1,200 bequest available from the late Alex Creighton of Manistique and will divert this money as part of the school district contribution. About $7,000 will be needed to outfit the band.

Purchase Questioned
Approval for a five-year loan of $17,651 from the First National Bank at 3.75 per cent interest to finance purchase of two new buses was given. Purchases questioned.

Roy A. Jensen sold the old fishery property to Brown Seafood and there was a brief flurry of activity before the building was closed and the windows boarded up.

The City of Escanaba was interested in bringing the shore front into public ownership so that it might be cleaned up and made more sightly. Seagulls, from long habit, continued to roost on the roof of the old building that is so near the modern complex of the State Building, Delta County Court House, County Jail, and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce building.

The city's effort to acquire the property failed because of the price question. Now the problem has been solved by the Danowskis, whose plans to combine the pleasures of boating and a residence overlooking the bay will create a more sightly shoreline and increased tax revenue to the city.

USCG Station At St. Ignace To Be Dedicated

The new U. S. Coast Guard Station at St. Ignace is scheduled for dedication on Sept. 28, it was announced today by Rear Admiral W. F. Rea III, commander of the Ninth Coast Guard District, Cleveland.

The commandant of the Coast Guard, Admiral W. J. Smith, will dedicate the new unit.

The $347,000 station replaces the Mackinac Island Station. Designed by the Ninth Coast Guard District civil engineering branch, the 16-man station will consist of two buildings—one containing offices and crew's quarters; the other, a two-family duplex for the officer-in-charge and his assistant.

The new station was built because the Mackinac Island Station was old and its isolated location presented supply problems, especially in the winter.

Maurice Chevalier Has Birthday, 80

PARIS (AP)—Maurice Chevalier, who has popularized in song and dance the image of the carefree romantic Frenchman, is 80 years old today.

That's a lot of candles for one birthday cake, so his friends ordered 20 cakes for a big party tonight at the Lido night club.

About 400 entertainment figures and other friends were on the guest list, among them Claudette Colbert, Eddie Constantine, an American who acts only in French films, dancer Zizi Jeanmaire and Regine, the discotheque operator.

Dinner and the Lido floor show were to be followed by film clips illustrating Chevalier's long career.

The climax of the program was to be a procession of the birthday cakes—each one with four candles—and the singing of "Happy Birthday." There is no French equivalent for "Happy Birthday," so it has to be sung in English.

$60 Million In New Aid Is Not Enough: Board

Spencer added he thought that despite Kelley's ruling on civil service for teachers, it would still be possible for teacher organizations to negotiate their work contracts with the state rather than with individual districts.

Millage Rejected

Meanwhile, Alex Canja of the state Department of Education told the committee that Michigan's voters so far this year had turned down nearly 40 percent of requests for added school millage. Of 536 millage elections held through Aug. 6, Canja said, 197 resulted in defeat for proposed tax increases.

Thomas Walsh, treasurer of the Lansing school board, urged the Legislature to empower school districts to levy income taxes of their own—an idea which both Smart and Spencer opposed.

"We're now at a point of crisis in education where something drastic has to happen," Walsh said.

Limit Distributing. Meanwhile, the eight-member State Board of Education was upset to learn the budget bureau is tentatively considering limiting the 1969-70 school aid bill to around $812 million, a $60 million boost over the current year's estimated total.

The board voted to prepare an analysis of the proposed budget which presumably will assert that the state's schools would suffer without a larger increase. They also planned to prepare two budget recommendations of their own, a "minimum" budget and an "effective" budget.

Last year the board recommended a "minimum" appropriation of $679 million, not counting teacher retirement benefits, and an "effective" budget of $816 million. It got $615 million, plus $137.5 in retirement benefits.

Drowns In Alaska

KENAI, Alaska (AP)—Ronald Gene Fish, 18, of Sterling, Mich., drowned Tuesday night when he was thrown from a rubber raft into the Kenai River.

State Troopers said Fish and Darrell Knackstedt, 16, Kenai, were in the craft when it lurched suddenly and dumped them into the water. Knackstedt made it safely to shore, but Fish was pulled under by the current.

Manistique Area Board Restores Germfask Class

MANISTIQUE — Re-establishment of a kindergarten at Germfask, acceptance of a bid on the Riverside School, approval of an educational television setup for two schools and a policy review occupied the attention of the Manistique Area school board during a 3½-hour meeting Tuesday night.

The meeting room was packed with an audience of civic students observing a unit of government in action, plus a delegation of parents from the Germfask area who petitioned the board to reopen a kindergarten room at the Germfask School.

Last month the Board of Education decided to transfer seven kindergarten students in Germfask to the Doyle School, a distance of 30 miles, primarily because of the small enrollment.

Object To Travel

Parents objected to the distance and time involved in the transportation of children and refused to enroll youngsters in the Doyle School. To attend Doyle School, children would leave Germfask at 11:20 a.m., missing lunch at home, and not return until 4:35 p.m., the parents said.

Agreeing that the parents had a legitimate grievance, the Board authorized Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle to reinstate the Germfask kindergarten.

Wilfred Johnson's revised bid of $1,000 for the Riverside School was accepted after the board rejected his first offer and three other offers made last month for the Thompson School property.

Johnson's bid of $500 for the old Doyle School was tabled pending clarification of the boundary lines.

TV Approved

Education television for Lakeside and Central schools was approved on a one-year trial basis. The cable TV programs originate with Northern Michigan University and will cost $364 for the period, based on a $2 per child charge.

Three television sets are available for the program, with which will involve 182 students.

The Board agreed to match about $3,500 in funds to be raised by a parents group for new band uniforms. Wuehle reported that Witter Reid, 185 N. Cedar St., suggested a community fund-raising project to finance new uniforms. The board has a $1,200 bequest available from the late Alex Creighton of Manistique and will divert this money as part of the school district contribution. About $7,000 will be needed to outfit the band.

Purchase Questioned

Approval for a five-year loan of $17,651 from the First National Bank at 3.75 per cent interest to finance purchase of two new buses was given. Purchase Questioned.

Workman's Compensation Rates In State Protested

Loggers and timber producers of Michigan Wednesday appealed to the Senate Labor Committee meeting in Escanaba to "do something" about the workman's compensation insurance rates in Michigan to make state forest products competitive with neighboring states.

Lloyd Palmer, executive secretary-manager of the Timber Producers Association of Michigan and Wisconsin, said the Michigan workman's compensation rates are "the highest in the United States."

Palmer said Michigan's compensation premium rates are $27.24 per $100 payroll, compared with $9.81 in Wisconsin. "There's not enough difference between the states," he said. "Something is drastically wrong."

The hearing at the Chamber of Commerce building attracted a large group of loggers and timber producers from the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Michigan.

Must Pose Problem

Sen. Oscar E. Bouwsma (R-Muskegon), chairman of the Senate Labor Committee who conducted the hearing, said the hearing was called to start looking into the workman's compensation situation in an effort to discover exactly what conditions exist in Michigan.

"We have to pose the problem before we can get some answers," he said.

Between 10 and 20 persons testified.

Palmer said part of the rate difference between Michigan and Wisconsin is due to the fact that Wisconsin has a "fine working safety code" and that the Michigan logging industry has no code.

He said the logging accident frequency in Michigan is three times that of Wisconsin, a factor which contributes significantly to the workman's compensation rate difference.

No Safety Laws

Michigan has no laws requiring woods workers to wear hard hats or safety shoes or requiring a protective canopy on tractors, Palmer said, and until Michigan begins to "teach safety and think safety" the compensation rates will continue to be out of line.

Marvin Pearson, representing Employers Mutual Insurance Co. of Wausau which writes much of the workman's compensation insurance in the Upper Peninsula, said the company believes "loss control is definitely the answer to the workman's compensation rate."

He said Wisconsin losses were about one third those incurred in Michigan and the Wisconsin rate reflects that loss ratio.

Jobbers Testify

Several Upper Peninsula jobbers who testified, however, disputed the fact that loss ratios in Michigan are the total problem, blaming excessive administrative costs, higher awards for injuries and lack of "follow-ups" by insurance companies on claims for the soaring rates.

One Upper Peninsula jobber said he had paid $30,889 in workman's compensation premiums over a 10-year period and had claims of only $1,457. He also said the way rates are based — on wages paid in payroll — that a jobber is penalized for paying his men higher wages.

U.S. Alerted To Threat In Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials say they lack any firm evidence that the Soviet Union intends to start trouble over Berlin, but they are on alert for such a move because of U.S.-Russian tension.

Attention was focused on Berlin when President Johnson in a speech Tuesday warned the Soviet union that "the use of force and the threat of force will not be tolerated in areas ... like Berlin."

The officials described Johnson's statement as a precautionary action. "There is no hard indication of any Soviet move to put the squeeze on West Berlin," one official said.

"But it's a constant apprehension any time anything happens to sour relations between the United States and the Russians."

Spot For Trouble

"It's a very easy place for them to cause us trouble. It is something they can turn on and off."

There has been speculation in certain Pentagon quarters that the Russians might choose this time to apply new pressure on the United States, Britain and France to weaken their hold in West Berlin.

This speculation grows out of worsening U.S.-Russian relations resulting from the Soviet Union's occupation of Czechoslovakia and an attendant Warsaw Pact military buildup in Eastern Europe.

The Western allies maintain only a small military presence in Berlin which is separated from West Germany by 100 miles of Communist-controlled land. The U.S. force numbers only about 3,500 men.

Off And On

The Russians and East Germans have put the heat on West Berlin several times over the past few years, with the most serious threat occurring in 1961.

At that time, President John F. Kennedy mobilized 148,000 U.S. military reservists and reinforced American units in Germany with 40,000 additional troops. That crisis lasted about a year.

Although the United States has expressed deep concern about developments in Czechoslovakia, all signs indicate there will be no immediate reinforcement of American troops in Europe.

Strength Is Cut

Over-all U.S. armed strength in Europe totals some 300,000 men, with about 200,000 of these deployed with the 7th Army in Germany.

Military authorities said they doubt that the United States will send back to Europe the 33,000 Army and Air Force troops brought home gradually since last spring in action aimed at cutting the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

These officials forecast steps to improve the readiness of U.S. forces already in Germany and to increase the preparedness of Air Force transport units to fly reinforcements from the United States to Germany, if this should become necessary.

For The First Time

The old adage, "Set a thief to catch a thief," has its modern counterpart in the practice of industries in raiding other industries for their staffs. The practice is the cause of an increasing number of lawsuits as industries which have but the brainpower that stimulates their production seek the aid of the courts in keeping the man — and ideas — that make them perk, against the raids of competing industries.

It is a mark of our economic backwardness that we have not had much of this in the Upper Peninsula. It is a mark of our economic forwardness that we are now playing this little game ourselves.

This was not the theme of the game when Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., hired Edward Locke of Marquette to manage its affairs for the next several years, but it is certainly one of the fringe benefits.

Locke is of a new and still rather rare breed of business and professional men in the Upper Peninsula. He is a professional forester with full accreditation in scientific knowledge of our forest resources, their value and potential, and he is also a practical businessman, a pulpwood buyer for Wisconsin paper mills who has supplied huge volumes of wood to them from Upper Peninsula forests. As a bonus he is also an innovator and entrepreneur in modern wood industry who has invested his personal funds in an experimental wood harvester and who has conducted forest management studies in the U. P. and widely elsewhere in the country and in Canada.

He was the choice of Frank Hoholik, president of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., and president of the new non-profit Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., created by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, and of his colleagues, as the kind of man who could head a demonstration project to show the Upper Great Lakes timber industry how to solve some of its nagging problems.

These problems include: Instability of employment, low profitability, high operating costs, outrageous workmen compensation insurance costs, (over $27 per $100 of loggers payroll.)

The project to demonstrate how the costs may be reduced, the profits increased and the employment stabilized is now starting in a $ to 5 years project sponsored by Timber, Inc., with the blessing of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, the Michigan State Department of Commerce and the U. S. Department of Commerce, which last agency has financed the first year's operation with a grant of $107,000. The benefits will, of course, be as fully available to the other Great Lakes states — Wisconsin and Minnesota — and to Michigan and they will be invited to be partners in the project.

When Locke was graduated from the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources he became an assistant to William Kluender, the resource development agent of the Chicago & North Western Railway, as a forester. He was importantly helpful in developing a market for wood grown on the North Western System, in finding Wisconsin paper mill markets for lodgepole pine and ponderosa pine from Wyoming & the Dakotas and other states which will supply it to Wisconsin mills.

Wisconsin mills are the prime wood market for Upper Peninsula forests, taking much more pulpwood than our own mills consume. (In the eastern Upper Peninsula forests grow up and fall down for lack of cutting; they are too far from Wisconsin to be commercially valuable.) And yet these mills are taking wood from more distant Western states. This situation will get thorough examination by Timber, Inc.

Knowledgeable Ed Locke and his staff will give U. P. wood industry a basic examination of a kind it has never had before to demonstrate how it can be yanked up into ranks of "growth" industries the way wood industry has in some of its divisions here and elsewhere.

This is an auspicious beginning for the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission composed of Governors Romney, Knowles and Levander and Federal Co-Chairman Thomas Francis, the federal and state Departments of Commerce and the Michigan Advisory task for the Great Regional Lakes Commission and especially its Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., under the courageous leadership of Frank Hoholik and his group. Here is not one more study of a perplexing, persistent regional economic problem, but a determined, practical assault upon it uniting the good will and full talents of industry and government.

We have too much sawdust in our shoes to expect miracles after so many years of failures, but we keep the faith that human problems will yield to human brilliance and gumption and we haven't seen it marshalled in more impressive force than in this Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc. It should hearten the logger, the timber owner, the paper mill management, the commercial community, local government, the schools, and the keepers of the community who wonder how we're going to cope with increasing costs.

S. Viets Remember Betrayal Of Hero

By RAY CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Many South Vietnamese shy from a coalition government with the Communists because they remember the story of Phan Boi Chau.

Chau is revered today as a great and dedicated nationalist. He was born in 1867 in central Vietnam. Shocked by the awful French terrorism after the Revolt of the Scholars in the late 1880s, Chau, while still a teen-ager, built a small but militant youth group which made determined armed attacks on the colonists.

From then on, Chau's life was in the underground. He operated in North Vietnam, in southern China, in Hong Kong, and went as far as Japan for support. He trained leaders, helped them to study abroad and then got them working together in a series of nationalist movements. From time to time he reorganized these groups when they were cut to ribbons by the French and expanded them into loose federations when this helped to draw in other groups of nationalists.

Chau, apparently, was a modest man. He was a leader, was well-liked, had a degree in the Chinese examination system which entitled him to a mandarin's post. His writings made him respected by Vietnamese throughout Indochina. But he worked to put others in the top posts of leadership.

In 1925, when his movement was gaining momentum, Chau accepted an alliance with Ho Chi Minh, just arrived in Canton as an employee of the Soviet consulate and Comintern with orders to organize Vietnamese students in China into Red cells.

As part of the new arrangement, each Vietnamese nationalist coming into China for study gave his photograph to a Ho aide.

As time went on, it came

North Vietnamese Liked RFK's Plan

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks has told a group of American academicians they were interested by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's proposal last month to end the war, one of the professors said Tuesday.

Jonathan Mirsky, director of the East Asian Center at Dartmouth College, said the North Vietnamese were "scornful" of the American delegates in Paris because they speak "in the words of President Johnson."

The Kennedy proposal, Mirsky said, attracted the North Vietnamese because it imposed no conditions for a bombing halt. The Communists, Mirsky said, viewed the Kennedy plan as "an insight into the situation."

Kennedy, in a speech at Worcester, Mass., suggested an unconditional bombing halt and the eventual withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Vietnam as among steps toward ending the war.

The Deathwatch beetle lives in furniture and the sound made by the beetle striking its head against a hard surface is believed by superstitious people to foretell a death in the family.

about that students who joined one of Ho's Communist units during their stay in China returned home in safety. Those who chose to remain in their nationalist organizations and refused to become Communists found the French police alerted as to when and where they would cross the border back into Indochina.

The French police would be waiting with photographs bought from Ho's men.

One day, having worked his way into the nationalist organizations and into Phan Boi Chau's trust, Ho, after alerting the security police, hured Chau to a spot just inside the French Concession in Shanghai. The French paid Ho handsomely for the betrayal.

Chau was brought to trial and convicted of inciting to rebellion. The uproar in public opinion which followed his trial forced the French government to grant amnesty to Chau. He lived out the last years of his life under what amounted to French house arrest.

Ho's betrayals did more than profit his work financially. For some years, the French went easy on Ho's Communists because they co-operated in eliminating nationalists and thus were effective in slowing the growth of an independence movement strong enough to drive the French out of Indochina.

Here is another slam hand from the Minneapolis-Montreal match at the Summer Nationals. Both South players chose to open with one diamond. There is no need to use a forcing bid with this type of two aiter. Someone is sure to keep the bidding alive.

The one spade response by North is normal and East has a takeout double of sorts. Not one to be proud of, but one he should make.

Each South player made the strong rebid of a jump to three clubs and each North rebid has spades to three.

Both Souths continued to four clubs and then came the parting of the ways. The Montreal North bid four diamonds. South went on to game and North passed.

Jerry Lee of Minneapolis made the winning bid of five diamonds. He did not have much of a hand but he did hold three good diamonds and a singleton club. It was apparent to him that his partner held a real minor two suit hand and it called for a stronger bid than a mere preference.

This made it easy for Eddie Langer to go on to the slam. It was also an easy hand to play since both trumps and clubs broke. Eddie did not know this and studied the hand for several minutes after ruffing the second heart.

Finally he came up with what appears to be the best line of attack. He led a diamond to dummy's king to guard against finding all three diamonds with East. He could not cope with all three diamonds in the West hand except by a first round finesse.

When both opponents followed to the first diamond he led a club to his ace; ruffed a club, ruffed a spade back to his hand and ruffed his last low club. If that had been overruffed he would have gone down but he could not handle five clubs in one hand under those conditions. No one overruffed and the sun shone happily on Minneapolis.

COMPARISONS

It is only natural for everyone in the county to follow with interest what action will be taken in the Escanaba Area school situation. I am sure that a sensible and satisfactory solution will be reached through the cooperation of everyone.

I did not think it was necessary for anyone to comment on other school area systems as was stated in a recent letter to the Press by a Soo Hill taxpayer's wife.

A comparison was made between the Gladstone, Bark River and Escanaba Township schools and the Escanaba Area schools. Just to set the record straight—we do have a few advantages although some people might not think so, especially here in Escanaba Township, and I believe Gladstone and Bark River are as well.

We do have a hot lunch program put on by some very good and budget-wise cooks for only 30 cents per student per day. (There is a special lower rate for four or more children from one family.) We do have a music and art program. We do have a beautiful gym for basketball and other activities. We do not have a football field, but what elementary school does? We do have a library. We do have a fine transportation system. We do not pay book rental. We do not pay taxes equivalent to the Escanaba Area.

Let's just not knock each other.

Come up and visit our school sometime. We're rather proud of it.

Helen Sovery,
Gladstone Rte. 1

Editor's note: All school millage in the Flat Rock Consolidated (Escanaba Township) district totals 19.5 mills. The system does not include a high school. The all school millage in the Escanaba Area Public School District is 21.3 mills. The system includes a high school building and a secondary education program.

Ann Landers

Sick People Aren't Necessarily Lonely

Dear Ann Landers: You will probably think I made this letter up because it's too incredible. But, so help me, every word of it is true.

Our 24-year-old son married a 28-year-old "genius." Both Hal and Melanie are working on their PhD's. They teach at a university and live in a third-floor cold-water flat. They get along fine and have never asked us for anything. The girl's family has money but they are not on speaking terms.

Last week Hal told us that Melanie is pregnant — four-and-a-half months. She will have the baby and will then put it up for adoption. I couldn't believe my ears. According to them they want a family, but not yet.

I offered to take the baby but they said, "No — if we see the child we might want it and this would spoil our programming." So our first grandchild will be born in February, and he will be given away like a kitten. I say these kids are crazy. They would make wonderful parents. Please help me to persuade them against doing this monstrous thing. — JUST CRUSHED

Dear Just: You are right about one thing — the kids are crazy. But you are wrong about something else—they would not make wonderful parents. A couple who would give away their child because they don't want to "spoil their programming" sound like pretty poor parent material.

Of course this is a monstrous thing, but it is their decision to make and you should stay out of it.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week a friend of mine underwent surgery. I had to take two buses on a sweltering afternoon to drop my children off at my mother's house so I could go to the hospital to visit this woman.

She treated me in a very different manner, in fact I had a hard time keeping the conversation going. After a few attempts to be cheerful, I left. I mentioned this to a mutual friend and she said the woman had treated her the same way the day before.

Just because a person is ill does it give him the right to be ungracious? Apparently some folks think so. Do you? — HURT FEELINGS

Dear Hurt: People go to the hospital because they are sick, not because they are lonesome. They need rest, not company. The person who is lucky enough to have good health sometimes forgets that conversation takes energy. Sick folks need their energy to recuperate. Most well-meaning individuals would do their hospitalized friends a favor if they stayed away and came to visit them after they come home.

Dear Ann Landers: I learned something from a neighbor yesterday. I felt like a fool not being able to figure it out for myself. It's so simple. If we mothers would use our heads instead of our vocal cords everyone would be better off — especially our children.

When a child leaves the house the mother should say, "I want to know where you are going. You must be home at 4:00 o'clock." This is an excellent way to teach kids that they are responsible for themselves. And it can save a lot of yelling and patrolling of the neighborhood. Try it, Ann. — D. C. MOM

Dear Mom: Thanks for the compliment. I'm beyond the child-rearing age, but I'll tell my daughter.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Many South Vietnamese shy from a coalition government with the Communists because they remember the story of Phan Boi Chau.

Chau is revered today as a great and dedicated nationalist.

He was born in 1867 in central Vietnam. Shocked by the awful French terrorism after the Revolt of the Scholars in the late 1890s, Chau, while still a teen-ager, built a small but militant youth group which made determined armed attacks on the colonists.

From then on, Chau's life was in the underground. He operated in North Vietnam, in southern China, in Hong Kong, and went as far as Japan for support.

He trained leaders, helped them to study abroad and then got them working together in a series of nationalist movements. From time to time he reorganized these groups when they were cut to ribbons by the French and expanded them into loose federations when this helped to draw in other groups of nationalists.

Chau, apparently, was a modest man. He was a leader, was well-liked, had a degree in the Chinese examination system which entitled him to a mandarin's post. His writings made him respected by Vietnamese throughout Indochina. But he worked to put others in the top posts of leadership.

In 1925, when his movement was gaining momentum, Chau accepted an alliance with Ho Chi Minh, just arrived in Canton as an employee of the Soviet consulate and Comintern with orders to organize Vietnamese students in China into Red cells.

As part of the new arrangement, each Vietnamese nationalist coming into China for study gave his photograph to a Ho aide.

As time went on, it came

North Vietnamese Liked RFK's Plan

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks has told a group of American academicians they were interested by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's proposal last month to end the war, one of the professors said Tuesday.

Jonathan Mirsky, director of the East Asian Center at Dartmouth College, said the North Vietnamese were "scornful" of the American delegates in Paris because they speak "in the words of President Johnson."

The Kennedy proposal, Mirsky said, attracted the North Vietnamese because it imposed no conditions for a bombing halt. The Communists, Mirsky said, viewed the Kennedy plan as "an insight into the situation."

Kennedy, in a speech at Worcester, Mass., suggested an unconditional bombing halt and the eventual withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Vietnam as among steps toward ending the war.

about that students who joined one of Ho's Communist units during their stay in China returned home in safety. Those who chose to remain in their nationalist organizations and refused to become Communists found the French police alerted as to when and where they would cross the border back into Indochina.

The French police would be waiting with photographs bought from Ho's men.

One day, having worked his way into the nationalist organizations and into Phan Boi Chau's trust, Ho, after alerting the security police, lured Chau to a spot just inside the French Concession in Shanghai. The French paid Ho handsomely for the betrayal.

Chau was brought to trial and convicted of inciting to rebellion. The uproar in public opinion which followed his trial forced the French government to grant amnesty to Chau. He lived out the last years of his life under what amounted to French house arrest.

Ho's betrayals did more than profit his work financially. For some years, the French went easy on Ho's Communists because they co-operated in eliminating nationalists and thus were effective in slowing the growth of an independence movement strong enough to drive the French out of Indochina.

Here is another slam hand from the Minneapolis-Montreal match at the Summer Nationals. Both South players chose to open with one diamond. There is no need to use a forcing bid with this type of two suiter. Someone is sure to keep the bidding alive.

The one spade response by North is normal and East has a takeout double of sorts. Not one to be proud of, but one he should make.

Each South player made the strong rebid of a jump to three clubs and each North rebid has spades to three.

Both Souths continued to four clubs and then came the parting of the ways. The Montreal North bid four diamonds. South went on to game and North passed.

Jerry Lee of Minneapolis made the winning bid of five diamonds. He did not have much of a hand but he did hold three good diamonds and a singleton club. It was appar-

A special program in observance of registration day was announced yesterday afternoon by Northern State Fair officials. There will be speed races, and the free vaudeville attractions. Owing to the fact that the business houses will be closed all day, the crowd will no doubt be a whopper.

Fire Chief A. Johnson yesterday asked that all residents of Escanaba clean their chimneys before starting their winter fires. Such a course is essential as a fire protection measure for the chief believes that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." He points out that the accumulation of the year's soot will mean real danger from fire in many chimneys.

COMPARISONS

It is only natural for everyone in the county to follow with interest what action will be taken in the Escanaba Area school situation. I am sure that a sensible and satisfactory solution will be reached through the cooperation of everyone.

I did not think it was necessary for anyone to comment on other school area systems as was stated in a recent letter to the Press by a Soo Hill taxpayer's wife.

A comparison was made between the Gladstone, Bark River and Escanaba Township schools and the Escanaba Area schools. Just to set the record straight—we do have a few advantages although some people might not think so, especially here in Escanaba Township, and I believe Gladstone and Bark River fare as well.

We do have a hot lunch program put on by some very good and budget-wise cooks for only 20 cents per student per day. (There is a special lower rate for four or more children from one family.) We do have a music and art program. We do have a beautiful gym for basketball and other activities. We do not have a football field, but what elementary school does? We do have a library. We do have a fine transportation system. We do not pay book rental. We do not pay taxes equivalent to the Escanaba Area.

Let's just not knock each other.

Come up and visit our school sometime. We're rather proud of it.

Ann Landers

Sick People Aren't Necessarily Lonely

Dear Ann Landers: You will probably think I made this letter up because it's too incredible. But, so help me, every word of it is true.

Our 24-year-old son married a 22-year-old "genius." Both Hal and Melanie are working on their PhD's. They teach at a university and live in a third-floor cold-water flat. They get along fine and have never asked us for anything. The girl's family has money but they are not on speaking terms.

Last week Hal told us that Melanie is pregnant — four-and-a-half months. She will have the baby and will then put it up for adoption. I couldn't believe my ears. According to them they want a family, but not yet.

I offered to take the baby but they said, "No — if we see the child we might want it and this would spoil our programming." So our first grandchild will be born in February, and he will be given away like a kitten. I say these kids are crazy. They would make wonderful parents. Please help me to persuade them against doing this monstrous thing. — JUST CRUSHED

Dear Just: You are right about one thing — the kids are crazy. But you are wrong about something else—they would not make wonderful parents. A couple who would give away their child because they don't want to "spoil their programming" sound like pretty poor parent material. Of course this is a monstrous thing, but it is their decision to make and you should stay out of it.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week a friend of mine underwent surgery. I had to take two buses on a sweltering afternoon to drop my children off at my mother's house so I could go to the hospital to visit this woman.

She treated me in a very indifferent manner, in fact I had a hard time keeping the conversation going. After a few attempts to be cheerful, I left. I mentioned this to a mutual friend and she said the woman had treated her the same way the day before.

Just because a person is ill does it give him the right to be ungracious? Apparently some folks think so. Do you? — HURT FEELINGS

Dear Hurt: People go to the hospital because they are sick, not because they are lonesome. They need rest, not company.

The person who is lucky enough to have good health sometimes forgets that conversation takes energy. Sick folks need their energy to recuperate. Most well-meaning individuals would do their hospitalized friends a favor if they stayed away and came to visit them after they come home.

Dear Ann Landers: I learned something from a neighbor yesterday. I felt like a fool not being able to figure it out for myself. It's so simple. If we mothers would use our heads instead of our vocal cords everyone would be better off — especially our children.

When a child leaves the house the mother should say, "I want to know where you are going. You must be home at 4:00 o'clock." This is an excellent way to teach kids that they are responsible for themselves. And it can save a lot of yelling and patrolling of the neighborhood. Try it, Ann. — D. C. MOM

Dear Mom: Thanks for the compliment. I'm beyond the child-rearing age, but I'll tell my daughter.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Social Reform's Chances Slim In 1969 Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Legislative leaders were generally pessimistic about chances that new social reform legislation will come out of the 1969 session at meeting with members of the Michigan Catholic Conference Wednesday at Lansing.

"I personally have reservations about the possibilities of much meaningful social legislation coming from the session starting in January," Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, Senate majority leader, told the fourth general meeting of the conference.

Lockwood said some good social legislation such as the open housing and tenant's rights bills passed the 1968 session. Such an active session generally is followed by a passive one, he said.

Lockwood said the temper of the country is evidenced by the fact that polls indicate Gov. George Wallace of Alabama may get up to 18 per cent of the vote.

Change Opposed
"Not that I'm for Wallace," quickly added Lockwood, who has been active in the Michigan

Aim Crackdown At Bad Driver
LANSING (AP) — The Secretary of State's office reports its crackdown on bad drivers has picked up steam with more than two thirds of 1968 complete.

License suspensions, revocations, cancellations, restrictions and denials plus referrals to safety schools are at a new high, said Secretary of State James Hare.

"Through August, we have taken actions against a total of 40,929 drivers," Hare said. "This is an increase of 7,000 over a comparable period in 1967 and some 9,000 more than 1966."

Hare said although more drivers are being taken off the road, this is not a total answer to keeping them from driving. "It is a proven fact that many of these persons drive while under suspension or revocation," Hare said. "Short of camping a policeman on their doorstep or putting them in jail, there is no way of keeping these errant drivers under any kind of constant surveillance."

Hare added that when the new vehicle impoundment law goes into effect Nov. 15, it will curb many of the abuses by those who drive while their licenses are suspended or revoked.

Baltimore Adds Helicopter To Aid Crime Fight
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore police department's experimental use of a helicopter to try to reduce crime gets off the ground today.

The city's Board of Estimates approved Wednesday a 100-hour use of a helicopter to cost the city $6,000. Hyman A. Pressman, city comptroller, suggested the program after saying it proved successful in Lakewood, Calif.

Pressman said police helicopters could "nip crimes in the bud of child molesting, narcotics, smuggling, robberies, burglaries, mob attacks on policemen and car thefts."

About 85 per cent of the corn produced in the United States becomes livestock feed, while the remainder is processed for food and hundreds of by-products. Even the cob is used for livestock feed, garden mulch, polishing powder and fertilizer, a chemical used in nylon, drugs and solvents.

campaign for Republican candidate Richard Nixon.

The indicated vote for Wallace, he said, shows that a large group of people are objecting to social legislation on the national and state level.

"I can't see that we will make much progress on programs that will need state funds," he said.

Lockwood added, however, that if the voters approve the graduated income tax proposal in November and if the tax is adopted by the Legislature, there may be more money available for social progress programs.

Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, Senate minority floor leader, said he thought the legislature will be mainly concerned with problems involving racial conflict.

Implementation Needed
"I believe the domestic crisis is even more important than the issue of war or peace in Vietnam," Young said.

One field the Legislature should work on, he said, is practical implementation of some of the social progress bills passed during the 1968 session.

Integration of police forces in the state will be one major issue, Young predicted. He said that no Michigan city has the same percentage of Negroes on its police force as in its population.

"State Police are even more ridiculous," Young declared. "They only have one black trooper."

State Police repeatedly have said they are conducting an active campaign to enlist more men from minority groups.

House Speaker Rep. William Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said the Legislature will have to work with a tight budget in 1969.

Integration Issue
He predicted lawmakers mostly will be taking a look at some of the social legislation passed previously and will concentrate on "ironing out the kinks."

Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, House minority leader, agreed with Young that integration of police departments will be a major 1969 legislative issue.

Lt. Gov. William Milliken told the group that one main means of social progress "is to become involved personally as individuals, to the extent our time will allow, in programs for social betterment in which we have a personal interest."

Those in leadership roles, Milliken said, "should encourage those private efforts which suggest greatest promise for the good."

Institutions such as the church and government, Milliken told the group, must not only be symbols of change but must also have a conserving role as symbols of order.

"Some demonstrators protest the trampling of human rights and in the process trample other human rights," Milliken said. "Violence begets violence," he warned.

Millionaire Will Wed June Grad
HONOLULU (AP) — Wendell Phillips, 46, a bachelor reputed to be worth $120 million, will marry a June graduate of Honolulu's Roosevelt High School.

Phillips announced he will be married Saturday to Shirley S. G. Au, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. H. Au. Her father is an employee of the Pearl Harbor naval shipyard.

Phillips, who lives in a skyscraper apartment at the foot of Diamond Head, is economic adviser and representative for the sultanate of Oman, an oil-rich state on the Arabian Peninsula.

The Sunday Times of London said he was worth $120 million two years ago. He is an archaeologist, author, explorer and scholar.

Feeder Cattle Sale Planned

Dates for the annual October Michigan Cooperative Feeder Cattle Sales have been set, according to Terry Greathouse, Michigan State University extension beef cattle specialist.

Beef cattle feeders in the corn production area of Michigan look to these sales to buy some of the cattle for their feedlots. Greathouse says that many feeders find they have less problems with these Michigan-reared cattle because they go on full feed quicker than cattle shipped from distant points.

The list of sales includes: Monday, Oct. 7, at Bruce Crossing; and Tuesday, Oct. 8, at Rapid River.

Information regarding the sales can be obtained from county Cooperative Extension Service offices.

Nursing Homes Object To Rules

EAST LANSING (AP)—Representatives of the Michigan Nursing Home Association presented testimony Wednesday objecting to a new set of rules they claimed would enable the State Health Department "to close any home in the state on a whim."

"The proposed rules were deliberately designed to be inclusive enough to enable members of the health department staff to close any one of the state's 325 licensed nursing homes," contended Basil Boyce, association president.

Boyce said this 16th revision of the proposed department rules for the homes was almost as voluminous as the 50 pages of proposed rules.

He said the health department has claimed the federal government requires the new rules.

State Sets Rules

"This absolutely is not so," he objected. "Under Medicare and Medicaid the nursing home must conform to existing state regulations and to minimum standards set by the federal government."

The health department, he claimed, is primarily interested "in being able to harass the nursing home owner."

The new rules if enacted would force many of the older homes out of business immediately and even the newest homes would have to spend thousands of dollars in building changes, Boyce said.

Room Size

Boyce said he particularly objected to the department dividing nursing homes into "skilled homes" and "basic homes" without first establishing who is a skilled patient and who is a basic patient.

Getting to specifics, Boyce said only one of every four heads of families in Bloomfield Hills lives in a room as spacious as the state demands for the indigent, long-term ill.

One regulation would require that a patient room with double occupancy have a minimum of 130 square feet of space.

"It is only when the price of a new home reaches $30,000 that the size of one bedroom exceeds 130 square feet," Boyce said.

Another regulation, he said, requires that parking lots be paved and that lights be on at night.

Do Not Drive

Nursing home patients do not drive, he commented.

Other regulations, Boyce said, call for one lavatory for each patient's room plus one for male visitors, one for male employees, one for female employees and one locker room for male employees and one for female employees.

"Many nursing homes have absolutely no male employees," he said. "Each nursing home would be required to have a locker room for existent or nonexistent male employees."

In the face of Britain's planned military withdrawal by the end of 1971, the newly formed confederation of Arab Sheikdoms, seven states plus Bahrain and Qatar, have agreed to coordinate their defense, foreign policy and economic affairs.

GM Silent On Minicar Plans

DETROIT (AP)—Officials of General Motors Corp. declined Wednesday to confirm or deny reports that the firm plans to build a new compact car in the challenge to fast-selling imported autos.

The Wall Street Journal said GM is well along with plans to replace its Corvair with a new compact to be introduced in about a year as a 1970 model.

American Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. also are said to be planning compacts. But with the AMC and Ford compacts reportedly aimed for introduction during the middle of the 1969 model year, GM would lag by about six months in offering its small car to buyers.

The newspaper said GM's Chevrolet Division would build the car and it would have a front-mounted engine, as contrasted with the rear-engine Corvair. Only about 9,000 Corvairs were sold in the first eight months this year. Its sales began dropping after Ralph Nader, an auto safety critic, charged that early models of the Corvair were unsafe.

In the first eight months this year, about 683,000 imported cars were sold in the United States, an increase of about 20 per cent over the same period a year earlier. Imports have accounted for about 10 per cent of total new car sales in the United States so far this year.

Farm Bureau Is Urging Cutback In Wheat Acres

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Farm Bureau directors, for the second straight year, have urged the state's farmers to substantially cut back their fall wheat acreage or expect continued depressed prices.

The bureau directors said as of July 1, 7.42 million bushels of wheat were unsold compared to 4.67 million bushels on the same date the previous year, a 59 per cent increase.

Only through reduced plantings, farmers are advised, can they expect better prices next year.

Farm Bureau experts said it is estimated it costs more than $1 to produce a bushel of wheat in Michigan. The wheat currently is bringing only about 94 cents a bushel on a glutted market, they reported.

The present figure of less than $1 is the lowest price for wheat in 26 years, they reported.

Bumper crops in this country, Canada, North Africa and Western Europe caused the wheat surplus, the experts said.

New Multivirus Vaccine Reported To Be Effective

DETROIT (AP)—Initial clinical tests have been conducted on a combined live virus vaccine against measles, mumps and German measles, a Pennsylvania virologist reported today.

Dr. Maurice Hilleman told a medical meeting in Detroit that the experimental vaccine prompted a 100 per cent response against measles and German measles (rubella) and mumps antibodies in 93 per cent of 26 preschool children involved in the pilot study.

Hilleman said adverse reactions from the one-shot combination vaccine were no greater than when measles vaccine was administered alone.

The virologist emphasized that broad clinical trials must still be carried out with the new vaccine before it can be considered for general use.

"The way seems clear for essential elimination of these three diseases in the developed countries within the next few years," Hilleman said in a scientific paper.

Hilleman made his report to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists meeting.

Hilleman, who is with the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research at West Point, Pa., developed the vaccine with Dr. Eugene Buynak and James Whitman Jr.

Torch Victim Was Gary, Ind., Man

WHITE PIGEON (AP)—A man who was shoved aflame out of a car near White Pigeon was identified Wednesday as Walter L. Jones, 39, of Gary, Ind.

State Police said the identification of Jones was made from fingerprints. Jones died Sunday from asphyxiation apparently caused by having been set afire before he was dumped out of an auto on a rural road.

Officers said Jones had been reported as missing last Saturday in Lake County, Ind.

Police are hunting a Negro man who a witness said was driving the dark blue 1968 or 1969 Pontiac from which Jones was dumped. Jones also was a Negro.

Soloist for the services was Mrs. Harland Hanson and she was accompanied by Mrs. Richard Langerhausen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Behrend of Powers and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Tuelio Marana of Hermansville.

Linen Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length A-line gown of Karate linen fashioned with a scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves trimmed with Venice lace and a removable train.

A camelot hat with a silk illusion veil formed her headpiece and she carried a cascade arrangement of white and yellow roses.

Maid of honor for her sister was Jean Behrend of Powers and bridesmaid was Amy Jane Marana of Hermansville, sister of the bridegroom.

They were attired in floor length Empire gowns of chiffon over taffeta styled with short sleeves and floating back panels. The honor maid wore mint green and the bridesmaid, yellow.

Chiffon Rosebuds

Matching chiffon rosebuds with short veils formed their headpieces and they carried bouquets of candied daisies in shades of yellow, green and white.

Serving as bestman was Jack Marana of Hermansville, brother of the bridegroom and groomsmen was James Behrend of Powers, brother of the bride. Seating the guests were David Behrend of Powers and Lawrence Sundquist, Nadeau.

Mrs. Behrend attended her daughter's wedding attired in self-floral design A-line dress of multicolor lace marquisette with a rose cage hat and accessories.

Escanaba BPW Aids Kidney Foundation

At the Sept. 10 meeting of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's Club the members voted to make the local Kidney Foundation its civic project for the 1968-69 year.

They appropriated $100 and also made plans for a forthcoming card party, the proceeds of which will be contributed to the foundation.

Mrs. Richard Pryal, guest speaker, gave an informative talk about the function and aims of the Kidney Foundation. Their pressing need is to get funds with which to purchase a kidney machine that will be housed at Doctors' Park.

The machine itself will cost $3,500. Other expenditures include the various technical equipment of such a set-up, maintenance, payment of tuition for training two technicians, and the services of a registered nurse.

Mrs. Pryal stated that 4,000 people die yearly in Michigan because of kidney failure. For many people afflicted with kidney failure, the machine means the difference between life and death. Some people are able to continue in employment because of the machine's life-giving action.

The local foundation has not yet affiliated with the Michigan Kidney Foundation, which is a member of the National Kidney Foundation, but intends to do so in the near future.

There are many advantages to be gleaned through unification, such as furnishing medication at a nominal fee, a prevention campaign, research, and many other useful activities.

It was emphasized that any money contributed locally would be spent in this area and not sent to the Michigan or National Foundation.

In other business, three new members were accepted into the BPW.

People

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Casey of Wells have returned home after a trip to Albuquerque, N. M., Sacramento, Calif., Portland and Eugene, Ore. and Seattle, Wash.

While there they visited with several brothers and sisters of Mrs. Casey. They were away for a month.

Escanaba BPW Aids Kidney Foundation

At the Sept. 10 meeting of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's Club the members voted to make the local Kidney Foundation its civic project for the 1968-69 year.

They appropriated $100 and also made plans for a forthcoming card party, the proceeds of which will be contributed to the foundation.

Mrs. Richard Fryal, guest speaker, gave an informative talk about the function and aims of the Kidney Foundation. Their pressing need is to get funds with which to purchase a kidney machine that will be housed at Doctors' Park.

The machine itself will cost $3,500. Other expenditures include the various technical equipment of such a set-up, maintenance, payment of tuition for training two technicians, and the services of a registered nurse.

Mrs. Fryal stated that 4,000 people die yearly in Michigan because of kidney failure. For many people afflicted with kidney failure, the machine means the difference between life and death. Some people are able to continue in employment because of the machine's life-giving action.

The local foundation has not yet affiliated with the Michigan Kidney Foundation, which is a member of the National Kidney Foundation, but intends to do so in the near future.

There are many advantages to be gleaned through unification, such as furnishing medication at a nominal fee, a prevention campaign, research, and many other useful activities.

It was emphasized that any money contributed locally would be spent in this area and not sent to the Michigan or National Foundation.

In other business, three new members were accepted into the BPW.

Swedish Families In U.S. And Sweden Compared

Part 2 of a survey-thesis written by Robert J. LaPlante, Manistique diplomatic courier, during a leave of absence from the U. S. Foreign Service in which he attended the University of Helsinki, Finland, as a graduate student in international relations. The first article dealt with Scandinavian migration to the U. S. in the 19th and 20th centuries. Yet, though it has been over 100 years since the migration began, those who left their homeland have been immortalized in a Swedish folksong "De Salde Sina Hemman" or "They Sold Their Homesteads."

By ROBERT J. LAPLANTE
ROCKFORD, ILLINOIS

A comparison of modern family life in Sweden and in America shows the similarities and contrasts that mark these peoples related by blood ties but separated by time and the sea. One center of Scandinavian settlement is Rockford, Ill., population 135,000, and some 100 miles from Chicago.

In that city, descended from Swedish - Norwegian immigrants, live a family of four: mother and father in their 40's and two sons, one 20 and the other 11. The mother cares for the home and does not have outside employment. She is blonde, blue-eyed, short in height and slender.

The father owns and operates a tool and die and plastic-mold business in partnership with his three brothers. He has black hair, grey-blue eyes and is of medium height and weight. The two boys have brown hair, blue eyes and medium physique.

UPPSALA, SWEDEN

After this brief introduction to an American family descended from Scandinavians, we streak suddenly out and across the United States, across the North Atlantic in a great arc that zeros-in on the famed old city of Uppsala, Sweden. Uppsala is a city of 100,000 and is 45 miles north of the Swedish capital, Stockholm.

We are in the apartment of a family of six: mother and father in their 40's, two young sons and two young daughters. The mother tends the home and does part-time secretarial work at home during the day. Monday through Friday evenings, from six to nine, she serves in the city as an inspector for a building cleaning service. She is medium tall, trim and has light brown hair and eyes that are more green than blue.

The father is tall, of middle weight and has light brown hair and blue eyes. He is a master sergeant in the Cavalry of the Swedish Army. The girls' ages are twelve and six, with blonde hair and, like their brothers, have blue eyes. The boys are eight and four years old with light brown hair.

Language Trends

These two families, connected by the century-old ties of migration and heritage, live their lives an ocean apart in the following ways.

In addition to English, some Swedish language is spoken and understood by the American family, mostly in contact with Swedish - speaking relatives. In the Uppsala, Sweden household, Swedish, of course, comes first though English and German are known by the parents and used on occasion.

Urge U.S. Ship Construction Be Given Big Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William D. Ford, D-Mich., called Wednesday for an "all-out ship construction program" backed by government subsidies to help counter Russia's expanding Merchant marine fleet.

Ford told a meeting sponsored by the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department that the United States first should see that subsidized segments of the merchant fleet carry commercial cargo instead of government cargo. Then, he said, unsubsidized shippers should get all the government military shipments and half the foreign-aid shipments.

He also urged restrictions to guarantee that U.S.-flag vessels carry at least 30 per cent of import commodities such as sugar and oil.

He said the Soviet Union is acquiring eight times more ships in its merchant fleet than the United States.

regulation. Our American family purchases the local daily newspaper.

Uppsala, Sweden is served by the government owned and operated television service which is headquartered in Stockholm and broadcasts usually between six and eleven in the evening. Our Swedish family hears three Swedish government radio stations in Stockholm, all operated by the National Radio Service.

Often they can hear Norwegian, Finnish and Danish radio stations. These Swedes average about one and a half hours television viewing daily. Radio gains three hours of their direct and indirect attention daily. Favorite programs on television are children's programs, news and theater. The family receives the Uppsala daily newspaper and one Stockholm daily paper as well. Consumers' guide and organizational publications are also read from week to week.

The American family purchases locally all of its food and most of its clothing. On occasion, some household and clothing items are obtained from a mail-order firm in nearby Chicago. In Sweden, the family belongs to a large grocery cooperative called Konsum. A Konsum store is 150 yards from their apartment and they purchase 80 per cent of their food here. The balance of their food purchases and all of their other basic family buying is done locally in Uppsala.

School Statistics

Uppsala offers schooling from play - school (kindergarten) through the famed old University of Uppsala which was founded in 1477. It is half a mile to the children's grade-school and one and one-half miles to the nearest high school. It is about two miles to the university.

The sergeant's children attend classes numbering about 22 boys and girls. This is considered a desirable class size but pressure exists for larger classes because there is a shortage of skilled teachers.

Subjects taught are: history, mathematics, reading, writing, Christianity, music and singing, Swedish, English, social studies, geography, natural sciences, manual arts, drawing and painting. The girls usually study home economics as well and all students take part in gymnastics, swimming and ball games.

Back in Illinois, the grade-school is three blocks from home and the nearest junior

Seems Justice Is Second To Fines

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An attorney says too many traffic courts seem to be in business only to collect fines "with sublime disregard for the administration of justice."

Donald D. Dewitt, assistant director of the American Bar Association's traffic court program, told the Southern Regional Traffic Court Conference here that many courts violate the rights of defendants.

"Our staff actually have seen cash registers set up next to the judge's bench..." he said. "The image of the court should be that of a place where justice is dispensed, not dispensed with."

high school is one mile away. The senior high school is about one mile from home and a new junior college being completed will be five miles away. Another local college is three miles distant and there are colleges and universities in Chicago (100 miles) and Champaign (160 miles). The grade-school son's classes are considered somewhat overcrowded with 32 boys and girls.

Here, as in Sweden, smaller classes are the ideal: somewhere near 28 students per teacher. Our family here feels that the newly elected school board will improve the local educational system.

The Rockford schools teach spelling, reading, mathematics, English, social studies, and in the higher grades, music, art, manual training, home economics, geography, algebra, typing, history, natural sciences, geometry and trigonometry. Swimming, basketball, gymnastics and other sports are part of the students' programs.

Daily Routines

The American parents in this comparison get up at six in the morning, eat breakfast and see the father off to work at 6:45. The younger son is up at 7:30 and off to school shortly after his breakfast. He is home for lunch at noon but his father carries his lunch to work. The son returns from school at 3:30 in the afternoon and his father is home from work by six.

The Rockford schools do not serve lunch in grade school but do serve lunch in junior and senior high school. The school-week is Monday through Friday and the students usually have homework to do nightly and over the week-end. In this family, the son who is at home (his older brother is away at the University of Illinois) is in bed by nine and his parents retire at 10:30.

Rising Hours

The Swedish household is up at 6:15 in the morning with breakfast at 7 a. m. Father and school children leave the apartment shortly thereafter. He enjoys a hot lunch at work and the children receive hot lunches without cost. The younger children return from school at 1:00 in the afternoon and the older daughter returns at 3:30. They walk or ride bicycles to and from school. There is nightly homework for the older students; but it is not the practice to assign students homework over the week-end. An experiment now underway runs the school week from Monday through Friday and gives the students Saturday and Sunday free. Formerly Saturday was also a school day. Swedish parents are happy with the experiment.

The Swedish father is home by 5 in the evening and after the evening meal the mother leaves just before 6 for her three hours nightly work in the city. The younger children are in bed by 6 and the older ones by 8. The parents retire between 10:30 and 11.

Suit To Restore School Buses Filed In Court

Rural Parents Name Barrett, School Board

Suit against the Escanaba Area school district, the Board of Education and Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett seeking restoration of student transportation services in the district was filed in Circuit Court for Delta County this morning.

The action was filed by Attorney Nino E. Green, director of U.P. Legal Services, Inc., Escanaba, on behalf of 11 rural mothers and their 47 children.

The action names the school district, Barrett and board members Richard Hanson, Ralph Kaziatek, Kenneth West, Dr. Donald Alimenti, Albin Pearson Jr., Daniel Wellman and Charles Tooman as defendants.

Green, who Wednesday indicated that legal action was being considered after the Board of Education Tuesday night rejected suggestions that the buses be placed back in service, said the only purpose of the suit is to secure transportation for those people whose children "by board of education action have been excluded from public education."

Not Notified Yet
He indicated that if the Board of Education elected to reinstate the bus services or "found other means" of getting the children to classes there would be no purpose for the suit and that it would be dropped.

Barrett, contacted this morning, said the school district as yet had not received notice of the suit and that he had "no idea of what the next step would be."

The plaintiffs reside in five locations throughout the school district and have children ranging in age from 5 to 18 enrolled in six different schools, Green said.

To Seek Hearing
He said he would press for a hearing on the action as soon as possible before Judge Bernard H. Davidson. The judge is currently presiding over Circuit Court in Marquette County.

Green said the judge could order a hearing on the action at any time, but he anticipated the earliest possible date would be Friday, Sept. 20.

The action says the plaintiffs are all members of families whose income is limited to unemployment compensation, workman's compensation, Social Security benefits, aid to dependent children, or where employment produces earnings inadequate, in relation to the size of the family, to meet minimum subsistence requirements.

It charges the defendants "collectively, have neglected, failed and refused to provide any facilities for transportation within the district" of children to and from their homes in the manner required by Michigan law.

Hardship Charged
The action says the lack of bus transportation has "caused great and irreparable hardship and inconvenience" to the plaintiffs to secure attendance of their children at public schools as required by law.

Lack of transportation also "has effectively discriminated against the plaintiff children" and has "effectively caused them to be excluded from public education within the school district because of the geographic location" of their residence, the pleadings state.

The action further charges that failure to provide transportation is a "violation of the duties" of the Board of Education imposed by the laws of Michigan.

Ask Writ
Plaintiffs ask the defendants to show cause why a "Peremptory Writ of Mandamus" should not be issued requiring the defendants to establish, reestablish and provide facilities for transportation.

The suit was filed after the Area Board of Education Tuesday night reaffirmed its position of not operating school buses on a deficit financing basis.

The Board by a 4 to 3 vote rejected a motion to immediately re-establish the program.

Elimination of the school buses was approved by the school board at a special meeting Aug. 19 after the district's fifth attempt at obtaining additional local tax revenue was defeated by school district voters. The buses were dropped in an overall cutback of over $200,000 in school spending.

Pueblo Captain Admits Crimes, N. Korea Claims

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said that the captain of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo admitted to foreign newsmen today that his vessel was "deep" inside North Korean waters when it was captured on Jan. 23.

The North Korean Central News Agency said Capt. Lloyd M. Bucher told the visiting newsmen the Pueblo has "full technical equipment for espionage activities and intruded several times into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to commit espionage activities."

It said Bucher made the remarks in answer to questions put to him during a news conference held for foreign newsmen in North Korea for the Communist regime's 20th anniversary celebration. It was the first time any of the American crew had been questioned by foreign newsmen.

Navy Considers 30,000 Release

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what may be a controversial move, the Pentagon is considering letting 30,000 Navy reservists off active duty early to save money this year, sources say.

If approved, the action will mean the release of many men who elected to serve two years active duty as part of a Navy reserve program fulfilling their military obligation.

It would not affect thousands of Army, Air Force and National Guard members who were activated—some against their choice—after North Korea seized the USS Pueblo last January.

Some Pentagon officials fear the proposed "early-out" plan will bring more criticism from members of Congress and activated reservists who complained they weren't really needed.

Only Wednesday, Rep. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., called for an investigation of the Pentagon's reserve callups in February and April.

Man Wounded While Hunting

Lawrence Young, 29, of Rte. 1, Cornell, was wounded in the shoulder by a rifle bullet in a hunting accident about 6:15 Wednesday, State Police said today.

Officers said the wound was not serious and officials at St. Francis Hospital said the victim was treated and released.

The accident happened, officers said, in Section 8 of Cornell Township while Young and Earl Deiter, 16, of 714 Ludington St., were hunting bear.

Officers said a lever-action rifle discharged when the hammer of the gun caught on the pocket of Deiter's jacket as he attempted to hand the rifle to Young.

LBJ Proud Of Sons-In-Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson reports one of his son-in-laws in Vietnam has been temporarily grounded for flying too much and the other can judge when an enemy shell is close enough to disrupt a show-er.

He told reporters at a White House state dinner Tuesday night of his latest letter and tape recorded reports from Airman 1c Patrick J. Nugent and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb.

Nugent, husband of the President's younger daughter Luci, has been volunteering for more than his share of flights with planes of the munitions maintenance squadron to which he is assigned, Johnson said.

In fact, the President reported, the commanding officer has grounded Pat for awhile until some of the other men catch up with his air time.

Robb, husband of Johnson's older daughter Lynda, has completed his frontline tour of duty and has been transferred to the headquarters of his battalion of the 7th Marine Regiment in Da Nang.

Johnson said Robb told in a tape recording of taking a shower and hearing a shell whining overhead.

But Robb said he knew from the sound of it wouldn't come near enough to harm him, continued taking the shower "and didn't even hit the deck," the President said.

Robb reported the shell landed 75 yards away.

Johnson talked about his family—and took a twirl around a dance floor—as he and his wife and daughter entertained at a state dinner with 140 guests in honor of the visiting president Errol W. Barrow of Barbados, the smallest country in the Western Hemisphere.

Fortas Vote Is To Be Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators trying to block Abe Fortas' appointment as chief justice say the Senate Judiciary Committee decision to reopen hearings was a victory and will add new ammunition to their fight.

The more facts that are brought out, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said Wednesday, the greater the opposition will be.

But the committee's decision to vote on Fortas' nomination next Tuesday at 11 a.m. after the reopened hearings also was hailed as a major breakthrough by Fortas' supporters who say they have the votes for approval.

The committee was awaiting word from Fortas, who has been vacationing in Connecticut, whether he will accept an invitation to reappear for the new hearings.

An Associated Press poll earlier this week showed that once the issue gets out of committee, 46 to 26 senators favor Fortas; enough for confirmation but not the two-thirds needed to cut off a threatened filibuster.

Talmadge Wins Renomination

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has won renomination to the Senate by a margin of nearly 3-1 votes. His opponent, Maynard Jackson, a Negro, got more than 100,000 votes and said this represented a moral victory.

"Georgia told the world that any American—black or white, rich or poor, liberal or conservative—can run for public office in this state," Jackson said.

Talmadge said, "I profoundly appreciate this vote of confidence in the Talmadge record." Returns from 1,006 of 2,011 precincts gave Talmadge 322,897 votes, Jackson 112,357.

Winner of the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate apparently was Earl Patton Jr., 41, an Atlanta manufacturers' representative. Returns from 766 of 2,011 precincts gave Patton 15,418, State Sen. Jack Seils of Atlanta 10,379.

Gun Control In Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional fight on gun controls is resuming with the Senate facing a floor battle over efforts to require the registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

The Senate, opening debate on the matter today, has before it a measure that would ban the interstate mail order sale of rifles and shotguns.

The bill also would prohibit over-the-counter sale of such weapons in one state to residents of another state, unless their borders adjoined.

The bill, similar to one already passed in the House, however, does not contain proposals originally urged by President Johnson to require that all firearms be registered and all gun owners be licensed.

These controversial proposals were rejected by the House and the Senate Judiciary Committee when it considered the bill before Congress adjourned for the political conventions.

Theft Of Car And Auto Equipment Brings Arrests

Two young men are held in the Delta County jail charged with possession of a stolen car and a third is being sought in connection with the offense, Escanaba police reported today.

In jail awaiting hearing are Michael T. Weber, 19, 521 S. 11th St., and Dennis M. Kozar, 18, of Gladstone Rte. 1.

They were arrested by city police at 12:50 a. m. after a chase in which Weber and Kozar were arrested and another man eluded police.

Richard Viaw of Old State Road, Escanaba, reported to police that his car had been stolen. It was his car which police recovered after the pursuit for reckless driving.

In Municipal Court today Michael D. Gerue, 19, and Daniel Zwicker, 17, both of Perkins, pleaded guilty to larceny from automobiles and were sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to make restitution for damages.

State Police arrested them at 2:43 a. m. in Gladstone and turned them over to city police. Officers said that equipment had been stolen from cars in Coyotes, Northern Motor, Caswells and Riverside auto lots.

Also in Municipal Court William W. Kammers, Sault Ste. Marie Rte. 1, paid $50 and $5 for reckless driving. He was arrested by city police.

Canada To Accept Czech Refugees

OTTAWA (AP) — The Cabinet has authorized special steps to permit speedy entry of Czechoslovak refugees into Canada, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced Wednesday. He told a news conference, "The government has accepted a provision to facilitate their passage to Canada."

Trudeau said he expected 1,000 or so Czechoslovak citizens might want to make a new home in Canada because of the Warsaw Pact occupation.

Funds will be allocated to help bring them over, but Trudeau did not say how the money would be used. The Cabinet had talked about a $2-million allocation for the project.

Reagan Wants Bill Banning Kennedy's Autopsy Pictures

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday he probably will ask the legislature to consider a bill banning publication of autopsy photos of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the governor added, "I will ask the legislature to consider it on special call after we have disposed of the matter of property tax relief."

The governor vetoed a bill approved during the regular session which would have prohibited publication of the Kennedy autopsy photos. Reagan said the measure was so broad that it could prevent any autopsy photos from even being used in medical research.

Kennedy was shot to death in Los Angeles just after proclaiming victory in the state's presidential primary.

Police Cars Shot At; School Closed

SUMMIT, Ill. (AP) — Police reported three Negro youths fired shotgun blasts at two patrol cars early today in this Chicago suburban community where the high school remained closed by continuing racial tension.

Two policemen were cut by flying glass and were treated at a clinic.

The youths escaped, officers said, after police dogs followed their trail to a railroad siding, then lost the scent.

Supt. James W. Lewis of Argo Community High School announced, meanwhile, that classes at the school were canceled again today because of continuing racial tension. Pupils were sent home Tuesday noon, and have not been back since, after an assembly called to ease tensions ended with 500 white and Negro youths fighting in school hallways.

Stocks Slip In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — A churning stock market moved irregularly lower early Thursday in heavy trading.

An early advantage for gainers was wiped out and minus signs outnumbered plusses by 50 or more on the New York Stock Exchange.

Xerox lost 3. Avnet 2 and Occidental Petroleum 1½.

The ticker tape ran four minutes late as the market satisfied pent-up orders from the Wednesday closing of stock exchanges. Several sizable blocks changed hands.

No special group leadership emerged from the confused cross currents of early trading. Most gains and losses were fractional.

Losses of around a point by Eastman Kodak and Johns-Manville depressed the average, as did fractional losses by Caterpillar, Montgomery Ward and United Aircraft.

War Casualty Figures Drop

SAIGON (AP) — American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, back to the level that prevailed during the prolonged lull in ground fighting in July and early August. The weekly casualty reports by the allied commands indicated that the war might be tapering off slightly again after two weeks of intensified combat.

The U.S. Command said 195 Americans were killed in action and 1,400 were wounded, with 681 of the latter hospitalized. These figures were about half those for the previous week.

The U.S. Command reported 1,664 of the enemy were killed last week, less than half the enemy losses reported for the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed, 1,061 wounded and 60 missing, also a marked drop.

The week's figures brought total American casualties reported for the war to 27,704 killed, 91,263 wounded and hospitalized and 81,926 wounded and treated in the field.

The total enemy dead reported since Jan. 1, 1961, is 392,565, the U.S. Command said.

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Julie Nixon, daughter of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon says even if her father wins the election she and David Eisenhower won't be married in the White House.

"A White House wedding, if my father is elected, would turn into a state affair," said Miss Nixon, "and neither of us want that. So we definitely decided to get married in a church."

Miss Nixon, here Wednesday with her future mother-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, to open a GOP campaign headquarters, said she and David will announce the wedding date after the November election.

Oldsmobile In Upward Surge

DETROIT (AP) — Oldsmobile Division of General Motors followed the industry trend toward longer, more luxurious cars today as it introduced its 1969 line at a national press preview.

Harold N. Metzel, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors, said the division had rewritten its sales, production and employment records in 1968 and he predicted a further upward surge next year.

Metzel said Oldsmobile built 648,281 cars in the 1968 model run, more than 55,000 ahead of the number of the previous high of 1965.

He said sales trends proved the division would set both calendar and model year sales records when the final tabulation is made.

Suit To Restore School Buses Filed In Court

Rural Parents Name Barrett, School Board

Suit against the Escanaba Area school district, the Board of Education and Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett seeking restoration of student transportation services in the district was filed in Circuit Court for Delta County this morning.

The action was filed by Attorney Nino E. Green, director of U.P. Legal Services, Inc., Escanaba, on behalf of 11 rural mothers and their 47 children. The action names the school district, Barrett and board members Richard Hanson, Ralph Karstach, Kenneth West, Dr. Donald Allment, Albin Pearson Jr., Daniel Wellman and Charles Tooman as defendants.

Green, who Wednesday indicated that legal action was being considered after the Board of Education Tuesday night rejected suggestions that the buses be placed back in service, said the "only purpose of the suit is to secure transportation for those people whose children by board of education action have been excluded from public education."

He indicated that if the Board of Education elected to reinstate the bus services or "found other means" of getting the children to classes there would be no purpose for the suit and that it would be dropped.

Barrett, contacted this morning, said the school district as yet had not received notice of the suit and that he had "no idea of what the next step would be."

The plaintiffs reside in five locations throughout the school district and have children ranging in age from 5 to 18 enrolled in six different schools, Green said.

To seek hearing
He said he would press for a hearing on the action as soon as possible before Judge Bernard M. Davidson. The judge is currently presiding over Circuit Court in Marquette County.

Green said the judge could order a hearing on the action at any time, but he anticipated the earliest possible date would be Friday, Sept. 20.

The action says the plaintiffs are all members of families whose income is limited to unemployment compensation, workman's compensation, Social Security benefits, aid to dependent children, or where employment produces earnings inadequate, in relation to the size of the family, to meet minimum subsistence requirements.

It charges the defendants "collectively, have neglected, failed and refused to provide any facilities for transportation within the district" of children to and from their homes in the manner required by Michigan law.

Handicap charged
The action says the lack of bus transportation has "caused great and irreparable hardship and inconvenience" to the plaintiffs to secure attendance of their children at public schools as required by law.

Lack of transportation also "has effectively discriminated against the plaintiff children" and has "effectively caused them to be excluded from public education within the school district because of the geographic location" of their residence, the pleadings state.

The action further charges that failure to provide transportation is a "violation of the duties" of the Board of Education imposed by the laws of Michigan.

Ask writ
Plaintiffs ask the defendants to show cause why a "Peremptory Writ of Mandamus" should not be issued requiring the defendants to establish, reestablish and provide facilities for transportation.

The suit was filed after the Area Board of Education Tuesday night reaffirmed its position of not operating school buses on a deficit financing basis.

The Board by a 4 to 3 vote rejected a motion to immediately re-establish the program. Reagan Wants Bill Banning Kennedy's Autopsy Pictures

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday he probably will ask the legislature to consider a bill banning publication of autopsy photos of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the governor added, "I will ask the legislature to consider it on special call after we have disposed of the matter of property tax relief."

The governor vetoed a bill approved during the regular session which would have prohibited publication of the Kennedy autopsy photos. Reagan said the measure was so broad that it could prevent any autopsy photos from even being used in medical research.

Kennedy was shot to death in Los Angeles just after proclaiming victory in the state's presidential primary.

Police Cars Shot At; School Closed

SUMMIT, Ill. (AP) — Police reported three Negro youths fired shotgun blasts at two patrol cars early today in this Chicago suburban community where the high school remained closed by continuing racial tension.

Two policemen were cut by flying glass and were treated at a clinic.

The youths escaped, officers said, after police dogs followed their trail to a railroad siding, then lost the scent.

Supt. James W. Lewis of Argo Community High School announced, meanwhile, that classes at the school were canceled again today because of continuing racial tension. Pupils were sent home Tuesday noon, and have not been back since, after an assembly called to ease tensions ended with 500 white and Negro youths fighting in school hallways.

Stocks Slip In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — A churning stock market moved irregularly lower early Thursday in heavy trading.

An early advantage for gainers was wiped out and minus signs outnumbered pluses by 30 or more on the New York Stock Exchange.

Xerox lost 3, Avnet 2 and Occidental Petroleum 1 1/4.

The ticker tape ran four minutes late as the market satisfied post-up orders from the Wednesday closing of stock exchanges. Several sizable blocks changed hands.

No special group leadership emerged from the confused cross currents of early trading. Most gains and losses were fractional.

Losses of around a point by Easton Kodak and Johns-Manville depressed the average, as did fractional losses by Caterpillar, Montgomery Ward and United Aircraft.

War Casualty Figures Drop

SAIGON (AP) — American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, back to the level that prevailed during the prolonged lull in ground fighting in July and early August. The weekly casualty reports by the allied commands indicated that the war might be tapering off slightly again after two weeks of intensified combat.

The U.S. Command said 196 Americans were killed in action and 1,400 were wounded, with 681 of the latter hospitalized. These figures were about half those for the previous week.

The U.S. Command reported 1,044 of the enemy were killed last week, less than half the enemy losses reported for the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties were 225 killed, 1,044 wounded and 60 missing, also a marked drop.

The week's figures brought total American casualties reported for the war to 27,704 killed, 91,288 wounded and hospitalized and 21,388 wounded and treated in the field.

The total enemy dead reported since Jan. 1, 1968, is 282,385, the U.S. Command said.

No White House Wedding, Julie Nixon Declares

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Julie Nixon, daughter of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon says even if her father wins the election she and David Eisenhower won't be married in the White House.

"A White House wedding, if my father is elected, would turn into a state affair," said Miss Nixon, "and neither of us want that. So we definitely decided to get married in a church."

Miss Nixon, here Wednesday with her future mother-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, to open a GOP campaign headquarters, said she and David will announce the wedding date after the November election.

Oldsmobile In Upward Surge

DETROIT (AP) — Oldsmobile Division of General Motors followed the industry trend toward longer, more luxurious cars today as it introduced its 1969 line at a national press preview.

Harold N. Metzel, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors, said the division had rewritten its sales, production and employment records in 1968 and he predicted a further upward surge next year.

Metzel said Oldsmobile built 645,261 cars in the 1968 model run, more than 55,000 ahead of the number of the previous high of 1965.

He said sales trends proved the division would set both calendar and model year sales records when the final tabulation is made.

Coming, Recipes On Cooking Coho

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — If the missus is trying to figure out how to cook those Coho salmon hubby is catching, take the advice of an expert.

"Pan fried salmon are very tasty," advises Eugene Dice, assistant professor of natural resources at Michigan State University. "You want to cook it slowly, however, and not too long."

Dice and some associates are obtaining regular supplies of Coho salmon from the State Conservation Department. They are experimenting with various ways of cooking the fish.

MSU soon hopes to have a publication available detailing the best methods of preparing the new and exotic fish that has become such a prize for Michigan anglers.

Varying Opinions

In the northern Michigan Coho country, you get varying opinions on the eating quality of the salmon.

"Delicious," say some. "Too oily," object some others.

Joe Tighe, conservation officer at Manistee, said the salmon do have an exotic taste—as do wild birds or game—but many like that flavor.

Expert fishermen and commercial fishermen know how to cut the fat out of the fish, most of it in the belly section, to take away some of the gamey taste, he said.

Dick confirmed this. He said in addition to these pockets of fat, there also is fat distributed throughout the fish.

Challenge To Cook

As the fish ages during its spawning run before natural death, the exotic flavor becomes more pronounced. In the last stage before natural death the Conservation Department advises against eating the fish. The fish taken by the department in this stage and sold commercially will be used only for pet foods or fertilizer.

"The Coho salmon is a challenge to the cook," Dice said. One very good method of cooking, he said, is to fill the stomach cavity with lemon slices and some raw onion, bake it and baste it with lemon butter.

He also recommends barbecuing the fish like a chicken, slowly over coals.

"In this way you get the taste of semismoked fish and the true flavor," he said.

Associate Prof. Gladys Knight also has been working in the MSU test kitchens with the Coho.

Similar To Trout

"It is somewhat similar to lake trout," she said. "The salmon is a member of the trout family."

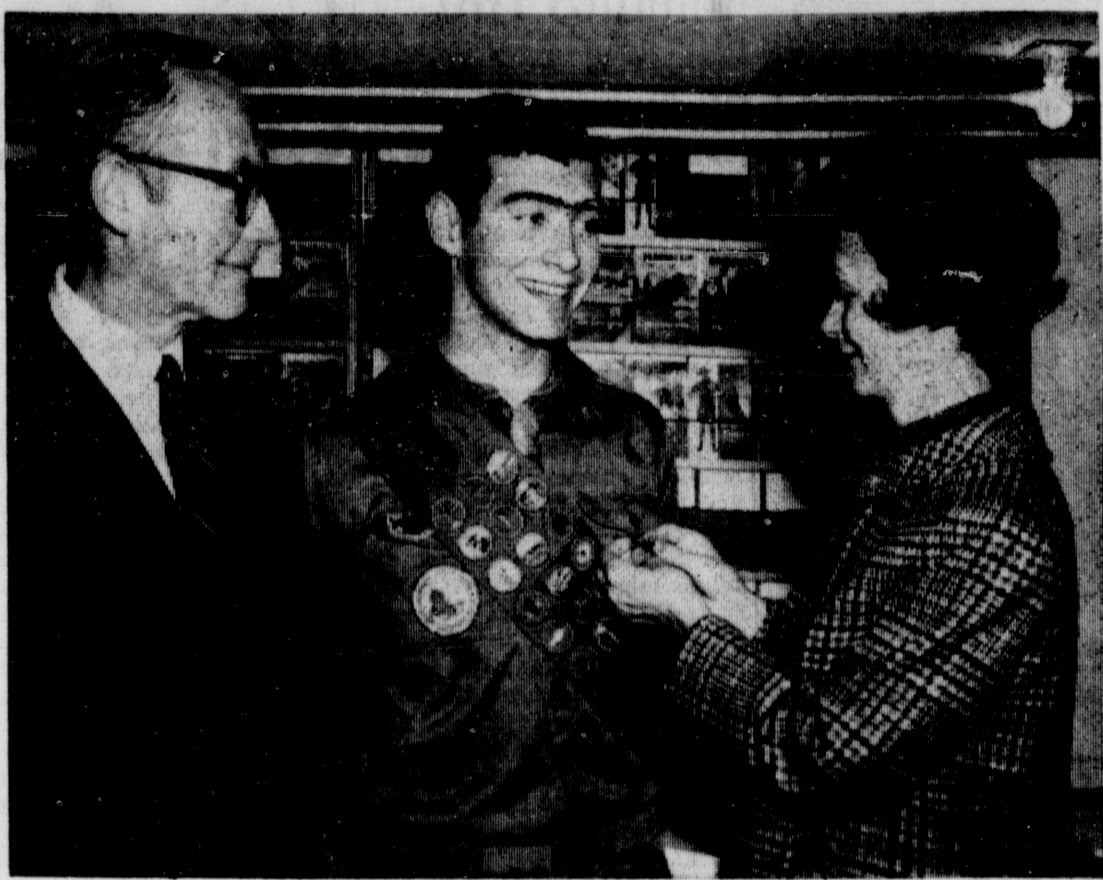

"One thing people should realize. They expect salmon to be pink. These are not. The flesh has an off-white color with a little pink shade showing when it is cooked."

She has been turning out some fine fish dinners by broiling the Coho and baking them in the oven.

"Another good way is poaching it—somewhat like an egg," she advised. "Cook it in warm milk or milk seasoned with herbs with the fish enclosed in a cheesecloth bag."

All the recipes begin: first you catch the fish...

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lima Jaycees honored Russell McLean here for his devotion to a project which has brought a few moments of happiness to thousands of hospitalized children.

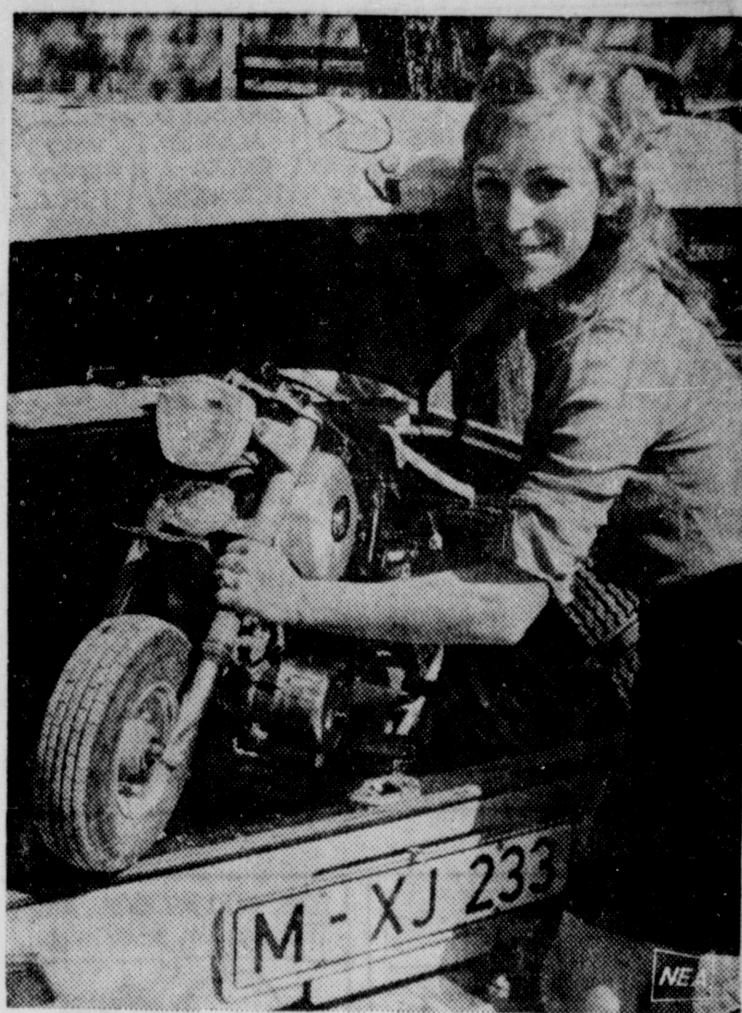

McLean initiated in 1951 a project to provide a free teddy bear to every child who entered a Lima hospital. Advancing years forced him to enter a convalescent home and the program was taken over by the Jaycees.

Now 76, McLean rejoined the project briefly Tuesday. He accompanied Jaycee officials to St. Rita's Hospital, where he presented the 60,000th teddy bear to 2-year-old Britt Talbert.

Lee's brother Jeff finished fifth in the Junior Barebow Class C division.

Three former U. P. prep gridders are expected to be in the starting backfield for Michigan Tech when they open Sept. 21 at home against Wayne State. Hecimovich and Focault also scored one touchdown apiece after their brilliant performances the previous week.

Tigers Sweep Series

To Cut Number To 8

ANAHEIM (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' magic number is now eight.

Detroit's runaway American League leaders completed a sweep of a three-game series against the California Angels Wednesday night as two Willie Horton homers led the Tigers to an 8-2 victory. The homers were Horton's 34th and 35th of the year. Bill Freehan also hit a homer for Detroit, his 22nd of the season.

Despite the victory, the Tigers' lead over second-place Baltimore was reduced to eight games with only 15 remaining. Any combination of eight Detroit victories or Baltimore losses will give the Tigers their first pennant since 1945.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith won't claim the pennant yet, though the Tigers will play six of their remaining games

Area Preps Begin 3rd Week Of Grid Play In Peninsula

Escanaba and Manistique are at home and Holy Name and Gladstone travel as area teams enter the third week of grid play in the Upper Peninsula.

The Eskymos, ranked number one in the first U.P. Sports-writers poll, meet a foe from across the border when they take on the always rough ends; Jim Derouin and Kent Anderson at tackles; John Mileski and Steve Jurnu at guards and Wes Peterson at center. In the backfield, Greg Johnson, who did such a great job against Menominee, will be at quarterback; Dan Mylander and Ken Robitaille will run from the halfback slots and Jim Olsen will be the fullback.

On defense, the Escanaba alignment has Moberg and Steve Strophich at ends; Anderson and Derouin at tackles; Peterson at middle guard; Mileski and Mike Dupont at line-backers; Johnson the rover back; Mylander and Robitaille at halfbacks and Bill Baum moves in to play safety. Olsen, Jack Winters, Gary Brawley and Bob Gauthier will also see heavy action on defense.

Unblemished Record

The Eskymos sport a 2-0 season record going into the game and will try to keep their 13-game winning streak intact. Last year the Eskymos nipped Canadian Soo, 6-0.

The Holy Name Crusaders travel to Manitowoc, Wis., to do battle with Manitowoc Ron-calli. Crusader coach Tom O'Neil and his staff were down to scout Roncalli and said they were very big but not too fast.

Manitowoc Roncalli lost their opener last weekend to an all boys school from Milwaukee, 13-6. The group of boys on this year's team make up the first graduating class at the Wisconsin school which means that they have played together for the past four years.

O'Neil figures his team to be in the best shape of the season with only John Dailey out of action with an injury. His starting lineup will find Dan Paterick and Tom Creten at ends; Pete Ross and Gary Corbett at tackles; Pete Quinn and Dick Gorenchan at guards and Steve Juetten at center. Bob McGinn will open the game at quarterback, as will, Dan Young at fullback and Joe Sinclair and Tom Ness at halfbacks. Ness, the 150-pound speedster, scored two touchdowns in the Crusaders' first win of the season last week against Stephenson.

Chuck Guay and Young man the Holy Name defensive end posts and Glen Theoret and Mark Johnson move in at tackle. Joe Gasperich, Dick Rusch and Pete Ross take over the guard positions and Jim De-Grand handle the linebacker spot. Creten moves back to play halfback with Sinclair and McGinn is at safety.

Big Game

The big game of the week in the Great Lakes Conference will pit Gladstone and Ishpeming in the battle for the league leadership. Both teams are undefeated and Ishpeming was ranked third and Gladstone fourth in the weekly grid poll.

Ishpeming has beaten Manistique and Negaunee while the Braves have knocked off Gwinn and Newberry. The big clash will be played at Ishpeming Friday night.

Manistique will play host to Munising Friday night in a game that should find one of the teams picking up their first win. The Emeralds, under new coach John LaPointe, have been beaten by Ishpeming and Sault Ste. Marie. Munising has gone down at the hands of Newberry and Marquette.

Nine teams still hold an unbeaten mark in the U.P. This mark could drop to seven as Gladstone and Ishpeming meet each other and St. Ignace and Soo Loretto play Friday night.

Season Tickets

Escanaba Eskymo fans are reminded that season tickets will not be honored for the Eskymo-Canadian Soo game Saturday. The game was originally scheduled at the Soo, but had to be moved to Escanaba because of transportation costs. Season tickets are good for all the Eskymo's remaining home games.

Canadian Soo. Eskymo coach Jerry Cvangros reports that all his players are injury free and are ready for the Saturday afternoon contest at the Escanaba Athletic Field beginning at 2.

Cvangros indicated no lineup changes which means the Eskymo line will have John Moberg and Brian Ihlenfeldt at the

Playoff Series

Both Deadlocked

By The Associated Press

The scene shifts tonight in the International League's best-of-5 semifinal playoffs with both all even.

The Rochester Red Wings routed the Columbus Jets 7-0 and the pennant-winning Toledo Mud Hens bombed the Jacksonville Mets 11-5 in Wednesday night action to leave each series deadlocked at a victory apiece.

Columbus moves to Rochester and Toledo goes to Jacksonville tonight for the third games.

Fred Beene gave Columbus eight hits, but the Red Wing infield came up with five double plays to help preserve his shut-out. Vic Roznovsky hit a three-run homer in Rochester's five-run fourth inning and Terry Crowley also homered, the Red Wings' 31st and 32nd in 23 games off Columbus pitching.

Five innings of scoreless relief pitching by Leo Marentee, who fanned eight, preserved Toledo's victory after Jacksonville scored four times in the fifth inning to cut down a 9-1 deficit.

Mike Derrick drove in three runs for the Mud Hens with a homer and single.

The game at Toledo drew 968 fans, the one at Columbus only 259.

Yankees Triumph Again

In Late Catch-Up Drive

By The Associated Press

Fritz Peterson is throwing his support behind the New York Yankees' catch-up campaign ... and Chicago's Tom McCraw has thumbed a ride on the bandwagon.

Peterson hurried the streaking Yankees past Chicago 7-2 Wednesday night for his fifth consecutive victory after the White Sox committed four errors—including a pair by defensive replacement McCraw—in a seven-run sixth inning collapse.

The victory extended the Yanks' winning string to six games in a sustained late season drive that has carried them from seventh place in the American League to within reach of the third spot.

Elsewhere, Willie Horton's 34th and 35th homers led first place Detroit to an 8-2 romp over California; Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-1 and 4-1 in 10 innings; Oakland edged Boston 3-2 in 12 innings and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 1-0 in 12.

Peterson, who has won eight of his last 11 decisions for an 11-9 season record, held the White Sox to an unearned run until the ninth, when rookie Bill Melton cracked his first major league homer. That was only the second earned marker off the New York southpaw in his last five starts.

Chicago's Joe Horlen was clinging to a 1-0 lead when McCraw took over for first baseman Pete Ward in the sixth ... and fumbled Mickey Mantle's leadoff bounce to trigger the wild rally. Roy White doubled, Joe Pepitone stroked an RBI single and White also scored when right fielder Buddy Bradford bobbled the ball.

McCraw's wild throw to second on Tom Tresh's grounder and an intentional walk filled the bases before Peterson sent Pepitone home with a squeeze bunt to Horlen, who threw the ball into right field, allowing Tresh to score. Horace Clarke followed with a two-run single and eventually scored the seventh run ... on a wild pitch by Wilbur Wood.

The Yankees, who have won 25 of their last 35 games, remained in fifth place ... one game behind Cleveland and 1 1/2 in back of the third place Red Sox.

Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell each delivered two runs as the Orioles took their opener. Dave Johnson won the nightcap with a three-run homer off reliever Dave Baldwin in the 10th.

The A's pushed over the winning run against Jim Lonborg, who went the distance for Boston, when pinch runner Allen Lewis zipped to third on the front end of a double steal and scored on Bert Campaneris' sacrifice fly.

Mike Hersberger led off the 12th with a single and gave way to Lewis, who moved to second on a sacrifice bunt before Jim Gosger was walked intentionally, setting up the double steal.

Carl Yastrzemski went 4-for-5 for the Red Sox, boosting his league leading batting average to an even .300.

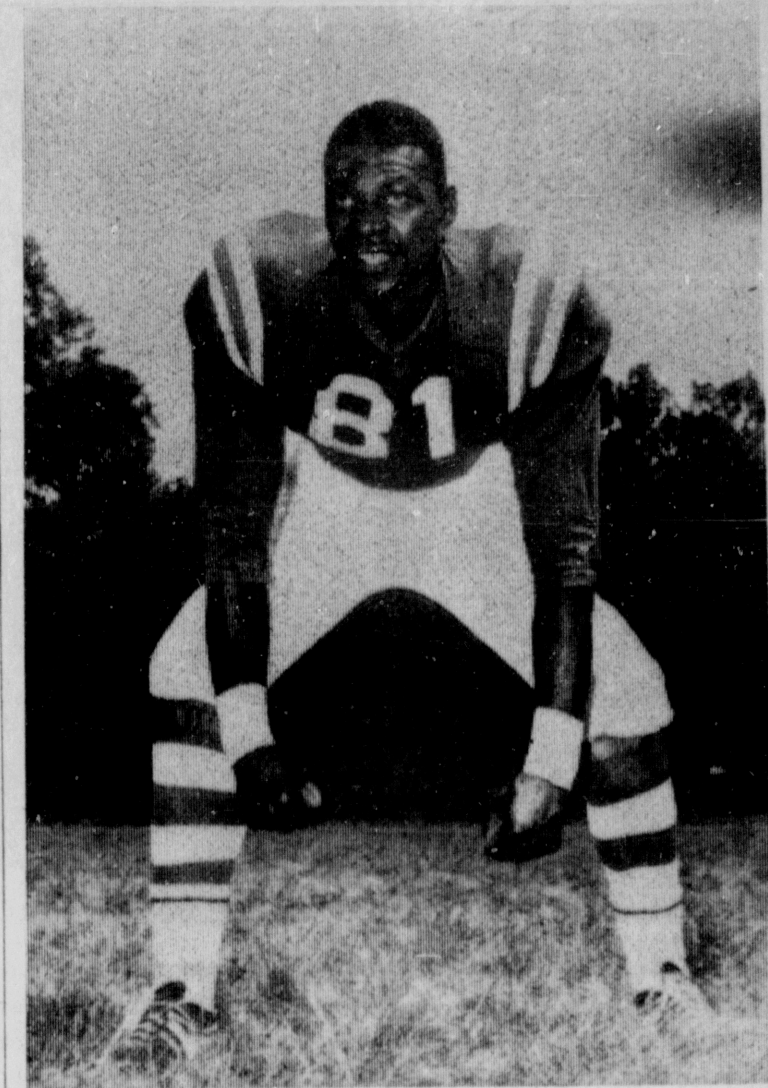

Jack Hernandez 12th inning error and singles by Max Alvis and pinch hitter Lou Johnson broke up a scoreless duel at Minnesota. Sam McDowell and relievers Vicente Romo and Horacio Pina combined to blank the Twins on six hits.

On The Sidelines

With Mike Utt

Rockie Paul Feldhausen of Iron Mountain, who was released on waivers by the Boston Patriots last week, has been recalled and placed on the taxi squad. Feldhausen played center, tackle and tight end with the Patriots in pre-season games.

Col. Warner Gardner, who died in Detroit this week after his hydroplane, Miss Eagle Electric, cartwheeled and disintegrated in the Gold Cup race in the Detroit River, was in Escanaba four years ago testing Little Bay de Noc, in Mariner Two, for unlimited racing. A race was scheduled for Little Bay de Noc, but later canceled when promotional plans bogged down.

Hermansville has taken the lead in the Big Six Baseball league after the first week of play. The Redskins whipped Champion, 7-3, in their opener. Felch and Republic split a doubleheader along with Carney and National Mine. Steve Swanson of National Mine struck out 16 Carney batsmen in his victory in the twinbill opener.

Jack E. Carberry, principal at Munising High School, informed the Munising Board of Education that the school has dropped from a Class B to a Class C school. Munising High School has an enrollment of 500 students this year.

Lee Premo of Gladstone placed first in the Michigan Archery Association State Championship held at the Detroit Sportsman's Congress at Ulfia over the Labor Day weekend. Lee, who is a junior at Escanaba High School, had a total score of 1314 to rank him higher than many of the more experienced shooters. Lee's brother Jeff finished fifth in the Junior Barebow Class C division.

Three former U. P. prep gridirers are expected to be in the starting backfield for Michigan Tech when they open Sept. 21 at home against Wayne State. Dana Deminski of Iron River will be at quarterback; Jerry LaJournie of Houghton at flanker back and Paul Dugre of Cedar River at fullback. Paul Sharkey of Menominee is also expected to see action at flanker back.

The Crystal Falls Trojans have an addition to their power-packed touchdown twins combination. Marco Hedimovich and John Fouault, after Gary Spitzner scored nine points, on a touchdown and three extra points, in Crystal Falls' victory over Gwinn. Hedimovich and Fouault also scored one touchdown apiece after their brilliant performances the previous week.

Gary Paquette of the Soo Loretto Angels racked up 133 yards rushing against Brimley as the Angels scored a 12-6 Eastern U. P. Conference victory. In the Angels opening game Paquette reeled off 166 yards against Pickford.

Ishpeming's 13-6 triumph over the Negaunee Miners was their first victory over their twin city rivals in four years. The win gave Ishpeming a 2-0 season mark and evened Negaunee's record at 1-1.

Tigers Sweep Series To Cut Number To 8

ANAHEIM (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' magic number is now eight. Detroit's runaway American League leaders completed a sweep of a three-game series against the California Angels Wednesday night as two Willie Horton homers led the Tigers to an 8-3 victory. The homers were Horton's 24th and 25th of the year. Bill Freehan also hit a homer for Detroit, his 22nd of the season.

Despite the victory, the Tigers' lead over second-place Baltimore was reduced to eight games with only 15 remaining. Any combination of eight Detroit victories or Baltimore losses will give the Tigers their first pennant since 1945.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith won't claim the pennant yet, though the Tigers will play six of their remaining games

Pistons To Open Pre-Season Drills

MARYSVILLE (AP) — The Detroit Pistons expected pre-season basketball practice to get underway Thursday at Marysville High School for 13 rookies and free agents and three veterans.

Practice begins Monday for the other team veterans and continues through Sept. 25. Center Jim Fox and forwards Terry Dischinger and Sonny Dove were the veterans expected to report early. The newcomers included the Pistons' first draft choice, Otto Moore, a 6-foot-11 candidate from Pan American College, Edinburg, Tex.

Ted Manning, a 6-foot-8 rookie from North Carolina College reported to the team's camp with a fractured finger on his right hand, but was expected to participate in conditioning exercises.

followed with a two-run single and eventually scored the seventh run ... on a wild pitch by Wilbur Wood.

The Yankees, who have won 25 of their last 35 games, remained in fifth place ... one game behind Cleveland and 1½ in back of the third place Red Sox.

Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell each delivered two runs as the Orioles took their opener. Dave Johnson won the nightcap with a three-run homer off reliever Dave Baldwin in the 10th.

The A's pushed over the winning run against Jim Lomborg, who went the distance for Boston, when pinch runner Allen Lewis zipped to third on the front end of a double steal and scored on Bert Campaneris' sacrifice fly.

Mike Hershberger led off the 12th with a single and gave way to Lewis, who moved to second on a sacrifice bunt before Jim Gosger was walked intentionally, setting up the double steal.

Cards' Countdown At 4 As Gibson Records 21st

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals' countdown is at four and moving while Juan Marichal's count-up is at five and stalled. It's a cinch the Cards will reach their goal but doubtful that Marichal will make it to his.

The Cardinals reduced their magic number for clinching the National League pennant to four Wednesday night by nipping Los Angeles 5-4 for Bob Gibson's 21st victory of the year.

San Francisco, meanwhile, dropped a 3-1 decision at Atlanta with Marichal, still hoping for a 30-victory season, taking the loss. It left the Giant ace at 25-8 and with only 15 games remaining, his chances for 30 are about as good as San Francisco's chances of catching St. Louis.

In other National League action Wednesday, New York blanked Chicago 1-0, Cincinnati swept a two-night doubleheader from Houston, 5-1 and 11-6 and Philadelphia split a two-nighter with Pittsburgh, winning the opener 8-6 in 12 innings and dropping the nightcap, 6-4.

Gibson's victory over the Dodgers wasn't his sharpest performance of the year but it opened the Cardinal lead to 1 1/2 games and made the pennant clinching party a weekend likelihood.

LA strafed the St. Louis ace for 11 hits including a leadoff homer by Willie Crawford. But the Cards bounced right back, staking Gibson to a 5-1 lead before the Dodgers made a late run at him.

Lou Brock's two-run double broke a 1-1 tie in the second and doubles by Orlando Cepeda and Tim McCarver helped build two more runs in the third.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, where Marichal hasn't won in two years, the Braves just about ended any hopes the Dominican Dandy might have entertained about 30 victories.

Hank Aaron tagged his 27th home run—a two-run shot in the third inning—and Pat Jarvis limited the Giants to four hits.

The homer was the 508th of Aaron's career and his first off Marichal by his count in three years.

Jim McAndrew allowed just two hits but needed ninth inning help from Billy Short and Cal Koonce to nail down the Mets' victory over Chicago.

Short retired Billy Williams' 37th home run in the eighth inning. Palmer had an early afternoon starting time. Trevino, the happy-go-lucky U.S. Open champion, and such standouts as Dave Stockton and Tom Weiskopf were set to tee off early. Stockton won the Milwaukee and Cleveland opens this summer, while Weiskopf took the Buick Open.

Other standouts ready to test the par 72 layout included Doug Sanders, Art Wall, Gay Brewer, Ken Still, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Kel Nagle, Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron, Bruce Crampton, Mason Rudolph, Al Geiberger, Dow Finsterwald, Marty Fleckman and other members of the pro circuit.

Host pro Paul Horney was a definite threat. Horney has won more than $10,000 as a part time tournament player this year.

and Koonce got Ernie Banks leaving two Cubs stranded. New York's only run came on fourth inning doubles by J.C. Martin and Jerry Grote.

Lee May's bases-loaded double drove in three runs and Gary Nolan won his ninth game as Cincinnati beat Houston in the first game of their two-nighter.

The Reds completed the sweep with a six-run eighth inning snapping a 5-5 tie in the nightcap. Johnny Bench and

Patterson Has Tricks Up Sleeves For Ellis

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Floyd Patterson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, says you can so teach an old dog new tricks.

"I've got a few tricks up my sleeve for Jimmy Ellis," Patterson said Wednesday upon arriving in Stockholm for Saturday's title fight with World Boxing Association champion Ellis.

The bout, scheduled for 2:15 p.m., EDT, will be beamed to the United States via satellite.

Not only is the 33-year-old Patterson an old dog by boxing standards, he's also the underdog at odds of 2-1.

Patterson won the heavyweight title in November 1956. He lost it to Ingemar Johansson in June 1959 and regained the crown—only man to do so—by defeating Johansson in June 1960.

Patterson held the title until being knocked out in one round by Sonny Liston in September 1962 and again the following July.

"If I defeat Ellis, then these would be my preferences for the future—Ellis, if Saturday's fight is a close one, then Liston and then Frazier," he said.

Joe Frazier is recognized as the world heavyweight champion in New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Maine.

Patterson, who started boxing as a pro in 1952, looked back on his career and said:

"I think Johansson was the hardest hitter, Liston the strongest and (Cassius) Clay the cleverest."

Vada Pinson socked key doubles in the rally.

Pete Rose had four hits in the doubleheader, raising his total for the season to 190. He is batting .343.

Bill White's RBI single and a two-run double by pinch hitter Gary Sutherland in the 12th inning gave the Phillies their first game victory over Pittsburgh.

The Pirates salvaged the split as Steve Blass won his 15th game with relief help from Luke Walker.

The fight Patterson still remembers was against Clay in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1965—Clay won by a knockout in the 12th round.

"That was a fight that decided for my money that Clay was the cleverest," Patterson said.

Then he looked ahead to Ellis and said:

"I have never felt better in my life. I think I'm punching better and harder."

Munson, Renfro To Open Season

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Coach Tom Landry of Dallas said Wednesday that free safety Mel Renfro, hobbled with a leg injury, will probably start Sunday against the Detroit Lions in a National Football League opener for both teams in the Cotton Bowl.

"He's been running well and doesn't seem to be hurt—we're very encouraged," said Landry.

Running back Danny Reeves, out with a bruised foot, also is listed by Landry as a probable starter in the game.

Quarterback Bill Munson, who underwent minor surgery and suffered chest muscle injuries last week against the New York Jets, is listed as a possible starter for the Lions.

Leahy suffering from leukemia

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy is suffering from chronic leukemia, Sports Editor Bud Furillo of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner wrote in his column Wednesday.

"Doctors tell me I shouldn't anticipate getting any better than I am," the 60-year-old Leahy told Furillo by telephone from Portland, Ore. "But if I comply faithfully with the rules and regulations they have set down for me along with medication, I should hold the line and arrest it. I intend to be on this earth for 10 or 15 more years yet."

Leahy, who observed his 60th birthday Aug. 27, said he tires in mid-day. He has business interests in Portland.

"It's embarrassing to get up from a luncheon table and find that my feet don't want to go the way I want them to."

"That's what Coach Rockne used to say, 'Leahy, your feet aren't going in the right direction.'"

Leahy was a tackle under the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame in the early 1930's.

The Escanaba Daily Press has 95 per cent coverage in the City of Escanaba, 94 per cent in the City of Gladstone, 90 per cent in the City of Manistiquette and 83 per cent throughout Delta County. The Daily Press is a welcome visitor in 10,400 homes daily in a five-county Central Upper Peninsula area. Smart advertisers use the Escanaba Daily Press.

Host pro Paul Horney was a definite threat. Horney has won more than $10,000 as a part time tournament player this year.

Heavy rain washed out the $7,500 pro-amateur event Wednesday, costing the pros a final tune-up. Tournament officials voted to donate $5,000 of the pro-am purse to Hawaiian pro Ted Makalena, who is in critical condition with a broken neck and brain damage suffered in a dive into apparent shallow water at Waikiki last weekend.

McLain On TV
NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. said Wednesday it will televise nationally Denny McLain's attempt to win his 30th game.

McLain is scheduled to start for Detroit Saturday against the Oakland Athletics at Detroit. He won his 29th game Tuesday night against California, and if he wins Saturday he will be the first major league pitcher to win 30 since Dizzy Dean in 1934.

The game is scheduled to start at 1:15 p.m., Escanaba time.

Auto Workers Start Political Support Poll

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers begin voting this week on who to endorse for president, and some, both inside and outside the union, are wondering whether blue-collar support for George C. Wallace prompted the UAW leadership to call off a favorite-picking national convention.

Insurgents in one sparsely attended local union meeting in Flint, Mich., won approval for third-party candidate Wallace. At still another they came within nine votes of doing the same. At neither was as much as 10 per cent of the membership present.

Now two locals have scheduled full membership referenda, although under UAW rules only the international union is authorized to bestow the UAW's endorsement on presidential candidates.

Humphrey Favored

The UAW's 26-member International Executive Board met Tuesday and Wednesday in Detroit. Some characterized the Wallace support as "inconsequential" in the union as a whole.

Feeling among board members was reported to be that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee would win support at regional meetings of delegates representing 85 per cent of the union's 1.6 million members.

Not even the most enthusiastic Wallace supporters have forecast the former Alabama governor will get the union's nod nationally. Wallace does not espouse issues which most of the liberal-oriented UAW leaders favor.

A large Wallace showing would be embarrassing to policy makers.

Ruther Shuns Choice

Even before he was nominated, a majority of the union's international executive board individually had endorsed Humphrey. The remainder, with the exception of UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey, expressed favor for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

None named Richard M. Nixon, now the Republican nominee. Reuther and Mazey declined to name a choice.

Customarily, Democrats get UAW blessings and in the past the union generally has presented a solid front, but the Flint local which approved

Wallace also favored Republicans in all but one local race.

Convention Canceled

Originally, the UAW called a national convention for Detroit, to be held Saturday. This subsequently was canceled, although UAW President Walter P. Reuther had promised such at the union's biennial convention in Atlantic City last April.

Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey said the national convention was called off because of requests from local unions which reported it would constitute a financial burden because of payments for lodging, travel, lost-time pay and other expenses. It would have been the union's third national convention within a year.

Instead, Mazey announced sentiment would be sampled in Michigan and Ohio through statewide meetings and elsewhere by regional conferences.

The Southwest Region is to meet Saturday in St. Louis. The Michigan conference will be held Sept. 22, a week from Sunday.

DETROIT (AP)—A series of bombings in Detroit looks like "a pattern of anti-establishment activity," Police Commissioner Johannes F. Sreen said Wednesday.

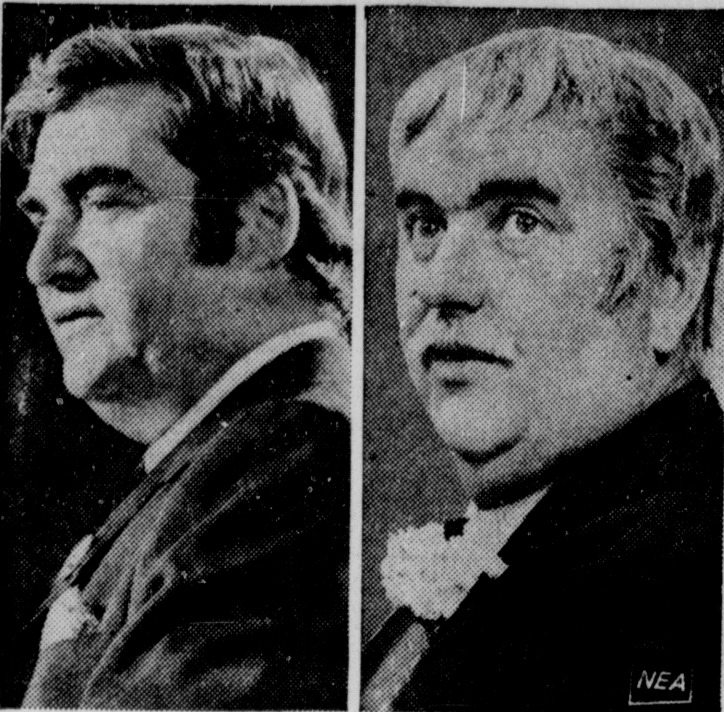

Sreen noted that of the five bombings in the Detroit area in less than two weeks, three occurred near Detroit police precinct stations.

Another was at a suburban building housing two draft boards.

The latest and fifth bombing damaged an Army car Tuesday night at the rear of an Army recruiting headquarters for Michigan. The blast shattered windows of adjacent buildings. Nobody was injured in any of the explosions.

Police in suburban Roseville said it appeared gunpowder may have been used in the recruiting center blast. Detroit police said dynamite apparently was exploded in cars outside the precinct stations.

Sreen said the FBI and State Police have joined in the investigation.

LOOK ALIKES? Long hair and sideburns worn by Pierre Salinger, left, aide to the late President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, caused some comment on a similarity in hairstyle to that of Bob Keeshan, right, who portrays the "Captain Kangaroo" character on television.

Teachers Fight Half-Day School

DETROIT (AP)—The Ecorse federation of Teachers moved Wednesday to block half-day school sessions organized by parents to keep children off streets during the continuing teacher contract dispute there.

Attorneys for the Ecorse teachers were granted a hearing today by Circuit Court Judge Victor S. Baum requiring the Ecorse Board of Education to show cause why the noncertified teachers should not be removed from the Ralph Bunche Elementary School.

Ecorse was one of five Wayne County school districts where some 47,000 pupils and nearly 2,000 teachers remained out of classrooms.

At the Riverview district Circuit Court Judge Benjamin D. Burdick said bargaining was making progress, but he recessed the negotiations late Wednesday, saying, "the last thing I want to do is grant an injunction."

The Riverview board had sought an injunction forcing its 167 teachers to return to work without a contract.

In Taylor, 700 teachers, members of the Michigan Federation of Teachers, asked that State Auditor's representatives meet with the school board and a state factfinder in a dispute over salaries. The Taylor board contended teacher demands would cause a $1 million deficit.

The Riverview conflict involved scheduled absence days. Teachers have been allowed to accrue as many as 49 absence days over a period of years, depending on seniority. The board seeks to limit absence days to sick pay rates under a new salary schedule.

Lincoln Park negotiation of minor points was continued to Friday.

Trenton negotiators were reported close to agreement.

High Note Hits Him In Neck

RENO, Nev. (AP) — John Glenn Little may think twice before he tries to hit high "I" on the trumpet again.

Little, 28, of Sparks, Nev., reached for the note while playing with the Reno Municipal Band. His neck began hurting immediately. Examination showed two discs out of place and he was in traction today in a Reno hospital.
